META DATA

Attention
Can the Gospel still speak to the realities we face in our world today?

Interest
In a time filled with social issues, news headlines, and the struggles of daily life, it is easy to separate faith from the events happening around us. Yet the Word of God continues to guide how we understand truth, justice, and compassion in our society.

Desire
Living the Word gathers a series of reflections that connect Scripture with the signs of our times—from calls for accountability in public life, to the devotion of the faithful, to the continuing search for justice in moments of tragedy. Each reflection invites readers to see how faith can illuminate the realities we encounter every day.

Action
Read these reflections and discover how the Gospel continues to speak within the stories and struggles of our time.
