

Name: _____

Period: _____

CS1: 5.2 Mad Libs	No (0)	Almost (1)	Yes! (2)
Title of Assignment
Basic Requirements Complete challenges: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • sprite and backdrop • 2/3 short sentences for a story • use ask/answer pair to collect inputs. • create variables to save answers. • give variable clear and descriptive names • use join and say, to tell story
Computational thinking. Students discuss abstract concepts such creating a variable to hold a word.
Standards/concept : 2-AP-13 Decompose problems into parts. Words abstracted from story. 2-AP-11 create clearly named variables Understanding of standards: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What did your variable store? • Did you name your variable descriptively? • Did you notice that using a variable allowed you to tell lots of different stories?

Name: _____

Period: _____

CS1: 5.2 Mad Libs	No (0)	Almost (1)	Yes! (2)
Title of Assignment
Basic Requirements Complete challenges: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • sprite and backdrop • 2/3 short sentences for a story • use ask/answer pair to collect inputs. • create variables to save answers. • give variable clear and descriptive names • use join and say, to tell story
Computational thinking. Students discuss abstract concepts such creating a variable to hold a word.
Standards/concept : 2-AP-13 Decompose problems into parts. Words abstracted from story. 2-AP-11 create clearly named variables Understanding of standards: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What did your variable store? • Did you name your variable descriptively? • Did you notice that using a variable allowed you to tell lots of different stories? 			