[12 - goombuds.exe - xslayed]

i always make sure to check out all the junk people deleted off of hypnospace, using my epic haxer skills to log into their accountz... who knows maybe theyre idiots and dont know what their throwing away bwl today i found these two weird things, super pathetic looking, but... they seemed like they could follow orders that got me thinking tho… with all the other xslayers gon, ill need some more members, wheather they want it or not so i powered up my hackblood energy, and fired it directly at one of them... the plant thing, i think and what happened next was insane

the leafs on its head grew into huge vines, stabbing into it's other thing, and growing more and more plants... deadly looking ones...

the vines, the plants... all seem to work together somehow... and it doesn't seem like it'll ever be able to stop growing.

totally hype...

welcome to the xslayers...
