Seed Companies

These companies all sell non-GMO seeds, grown responsibly. I have grown seeds from almost all companies listed, and have friends who rave about the ones I haven't personally tried yet.

Project Grow Seeds Heirloom tomato and pepper seeds from plants grown by volunteers in Ann Arbor, Michigan, without chemical fertilizers, pesticides or herbicides using organic practices. Project Grow is a community garden non-profit.

Garden Hoard Founded in 2010 in Livonia, Michigan. Open-pollinated, hand-collected seeds. Nice seed packet designs with detailed sowing instructions. Also offers free seeds for a SASE.

Ann Arbor Seed Co Founded in 2012. Open-pollinated vegetable and ornamental seeds grown in Washtenaw County, Michigan.

Renee's Garden Flower, vegetable and herb seeds chosen for great flavor, easy growing and great performance. Beautiful drawings on seed packets, excellent instructions. Some seeds USDA-certified as organic. Safe seed pledge. In Felton, California.

D. Landreth Seed Company America's oldest seed company, founded in 1784. Flower, vegetable, herb, grass, and wildflower seeds. In New Freedom, Pennsylvania.

Victory Seeds Rare, open-pollinated, non-GMO, non-hybrid and heirloom vegetable, grain, flower, herb and tobacco seeds. In Molalla, Oregon.

Thomas Jefferson's Monticello Heirloom and historic flower, vegetable and herb seeds. Interesting and unusual varieties. In Charlottesville, Virginia.

BBB Seeds Wildflower, heirloom and organic heirloom vegetable, and native grass seeds. Also wildflower seed mixes. In Boulder, Colorado.

Prairie Moon Nursery Native seeds and plants for prairie, meadow, wetland, savanna, and woodland. Also has a wonderful collection of photos of the seeds themselves. In Winona, Minnesota.

Botanical Interests Flower, herb, and vegetable seeds, including over 150 varieties of USDA-certified organic seed. Safe seed pledge. In Broomfield, Colorado.

Territorial Seed Company Seeds of veggies, flowers, herbs, fruits, and vines. Safe seed pledge. In Cottage Grove, Oregon.
