Arizona County Boards of Supervisors: Meetings, Public Comment & Canvass Guide (Nov–Dec 2026)

Every county board must canvass the November 3 results between Monday, Nov 9 and Thursday, Nov 19, 2026; this guide shows where, when and how to show up or comment in all 15 counties.

How to read the dates. Dates marked confirmed come from a county's own posted schedule. Dates marked projected follow the board's standing rule (e.g., "1st and 3rd Monday") but were not found on a posted 2026 calendar. Canvass meetings are usually noticed only 24 hours ahead as special meetings, so most canvass dates below are the statutory window, not a set meeting. Always check the agenda link the day before.

Canvass timeline and the law

County canvass is a mandatory, nondiscretionary duty: boards cannot change totals, reject results or delay past the deadline (Brennan Center).

1. Tue, Nov 3 — Election Day.
2. Mon, Nov 9 — first day a board may canvass (AZ Secretary of State).
3. Thu, Nov 19 — deadline for every board to canvass (A.R.S. § 16-642(A)(1)(b), the third Thursday after the election) (Campaign Legal Center guide).
4. Mon, Nov 23 — statewide canvass by the Secretary of State (AZ SOS calendar).

Why it matters. In 2022, Cochise County's Republican supervisors refused to canvass on time; a court ordered them to act, and the Attorney General later prosecuted two supervisors for interfering with an election officer and conspiracy (Brennan Center). Showing up, or emailing comments, on canvass day is a visible way to signal that residents expect the board to do its legal duty.

In Maricopa County, a July 2026 court-mediated settlement left the county canvass with the Board of Supervisors and its Elections Department, not the Recorder (Democracy Docket).

At a glance

Greenlee is the only county whose posted schedule names a canvass date (Nov 17). Pima has a special virtual meeting on Nov 19, the deadline day.
