Offseason Amendments

Not enough to vote on

Do you want to raise the Buy in from $350 to $400
No
Indifferent. Inflation is up so EC titles are worth less $$, and that does not seem right. Happy to go with whatever every else wants to do.
No
No
No
No
Yes
No
Nope the Damn economy has exploded and I'm going to ride the sky high stock prices with that extra 50 bones.
I'm open to it but it's not a big deal to me.
No
No

Passed

Change Tie Break
Yay - more relevant w/o IDPs
Agree, reward greatness in a week, the tie break should reward the true outlier performances and the current one is stale/dated from an old EC. I understand the calls for a true "tie" but frankly that makes things complicated as we would have to change all the rules and stuff from record to winning percentage. It is much cleaner to have a tie break.
Allow ties
Agree with this change.
Make bench first and highest single player second
Yes
No, rewards outliers and no consistency
Yes
Sure
Yay - I like it.
Yes. The old rule made sense when we had IDPs but just dropping DEF to determine tiebreak is weak
Sounds fine to me

Passed

	Full PPR
Tim	Yay - brings more players into the pool, also reflects the direction of the NFL
Scott	Sure, more points more fun
Schwartz	Yes. Think it makes sense and increases scoring. May make more players relevant.
Tony	Yes - this is the way
JMT	Hell no.
Brent	No
Kyle	Fuck no
Jeremy	Not really but open to a strong reason to
Goss	Yes. I don't have a strong preference though.
Thomas	No
Paul	Indifferent. Open to hearing arguments
Solon	Yes

	Sleeper?
Tim	Sleeper looks cool but if it's more work for commish then might not be worth it
	What do I like about it: 1) the ability to set the waiver process time--this is enough on its own for me. 2) multi team trades 3) the in game interface is better 4) no ESPN ads 5) better interface for waivers
	What I dont like: ESPN has worked for years so why change now? I already know where everything is in ESPN. Change is hard.
	overall, I am open to the idea if the league wants do it, even if it is more work for me. I do like Pauls idea to run the guillotine league there and get a taste for the interface before up and changing everything.
Scott
Schwartz	No. Fine with espn
Tony	No - ESPN works fine. No need to over complicate this and add flexibility that will add more moving pieces.
JMT	No, have all the historical data on espn and that is in constitution as our default scoring
Brent	Yes. A lot more control, and a lot more options for owners. But fine with it staying same
Kyle	Yes, just want to make a 3 team trade
Jeremy	No, I didn't enjoy sleeper last time I played it, but I could be convinced.
Goss	Nope. I have ESPN in my other league, I'm old now and simplicity and less variables are the way of the future.
Thomas	Nay - I don't see a need.
Paul	Yes, better UX. Let's at least try for guillotine
Solon	Im indifferent to this but sleeper does interest me to I would lean that way

Passed

	Drop Bench or IR spot
Tim	Nay - moving to PPR would lessen the pressure here. If we don't move to PPR, remove the IR spot
Scott	Indifferent, I think it would make the waiver wire "better". Likely necessary if full PPR.
Schwartz	I'd be in favor of dropping a bench spot but keeping ir. Ir still allows the possibility of not screwing someone on a late game scratch
Tony	Yes
JMT	Yes to one or other. Needs pauls analysis
Brent	No to eliminating IR. Yes to bench spot
Kyle	Drop bench spot - more trades waiver action
Jeremy	Strongly no
Goss	Yes didn't we discuss dropping one
Thomas	No to IR, yes to bench (unless we move to Full PPR)
Paul	Yes. Ideally both but I know the league isn't
Solon	Yes drop a bench. I think it would free up more players to pick up instead of them rotting on someone's bench.

Not enough to vote on

	Kickers
Tim	Hell no - kickers suck
Scott	Yes, but if they only can score negative points. No positive, but you lose points if they miss XPs or Field goals.
Schwartz	Fuck no
Tony	Hell yes - more to cheer for
JMT	Kinda. Round out the roster
Brent	No
Kyle	Yes
Jeremy	Yes
Goss	Your damn skippy I do!
Thomas	FUCK. NO.
Paul	Yes. We'd need to discuss scoring
Solon	No

	Ban Laptops ?
Tim	Yay - legal pads rule
	Yes, and here is why. We joined a league that was build around a live draft, and now its basically an online draft. It is not that I am agaist fantasy pros suggesting who to draft, I have used it before and it makes things easier. You can, and should, use their ECR cheat sheets and it does the same thing. You can put the stuff in at the end of each round on the phone for all I care, it just does kind of suck to be at this high point of brotherhood and shit talk and good times during the draft, where we spend $$ on a draft board and see each other, and most people are glued to their laptop the whole time. Many wont even get up for a beer, becuae they have to enter every single pick the second it gets made. I think if we did it one time, we would realize how much better the draft would be to get unglued. There would even be room to make an 'incorrect selection, chug a beer' like we had back in the day. That has been gone since laptop drafting happened.
Scott	Think Stout or the other buckhead draft, or the one at Jeremy/Tim's house. All were good and less face-in-laptop.
Schwartz	No seems over engineered. People can use what they want.
Tony	Fucking stupid - no
JMT	Hell no. We are old and lazy and only 2 people want this. Also phone has same result so that would not work anyway.
Brent	No
Kyle	No - Kyle's 1st year
Jeremy	I would not vote to ban technology
Goss	Absolutely not. I rely on last minute news and the power of AI to survive after boozing for 6+ hours
Thomas	No - this is dumb.
Paul	Indifferent. I drafted Len and paper longer than most so I'd be fun. This is a high stakes league and people should be able to use the tools they think give them the best chance to win. Forcing pen and paper feels like a boomer take too
Solon	No
