

INTRODUCTION

DECLARATION

Let there be complete and infinite happiness, truth, and unity, for all unconditionally.

SUMMARY

The absolute Truth is the supreme being, the Self at the heart of us all.

The supreme being can be compared to the origin of a logarithmic spiral, and life to the spiral. The supreme being is at the heart of us all, just as the origin of a logarithmic spiral is at the heart of the spiral. Life perpetually grows towards the supreme being, just as a logarithmic spiral perpetually grows towards its origin. Also, the supreme being is complete peace and infinite power (love), just as a logarithmic spiral's rotations' amplitude decreases towards zero and frequency increases towards infinity as the spiral approaches its origin.

Complete peace and infinite power (love), zero amplitude and infinity frequency, are the two fundamental qualities of the supreme being, and they go by many names, including yin and yang, the Divine Feminine and Masculine, and the political left and right. The supreme being unites these two qualities.

Life's perpetual growth occurs through continuous cycles of remembering and forgetting the supreme being that progress towards equilibrium. The cycles' return and fall phases correspond to yin and yang and are essentially the phases of a wave's oscillation. Each new cycle represents a new, more wondrous generation.

The peaks and valleys of these cycles correspond to functioning at the higher, finer and lower, denser spiritual planes/bodies, chakras, elements, and regions of the body. The supreme being is completely and infinitely fine (light), and Creation is made up of an infinite amount of planes of varying density that are organized by fineness in accordance with the concept of gravitational differentiation, with the supreme being at the top, and gravitational singularities at the bottom. Accordingly, evolution involves the raising of consciousness from the lower, denser spiritual planes/bodies, chakras, elements, and regions of the body, to the higher, finer ones, and creation involves emanation from the higher, finer spiritual planes/bodies, chakras, elements, and regions of the body, to the lower, denser ones.

The spiritual planes/bodies, chakras, and regions of the body can be matched with the elements, spirit, light, air, water, and minerals, which constitute the essential elemental requirements for life, compose the structure of the universe with regards to living planetary environments, provide a spiritual explanation of evolution and creation, suggest a definitive meaning to the classical elements, and more.

At last, let's all unite as one United Earth family around the one supreme being at the heart of us all as one circle of free equals with one objective, the greatest happiness of all.

HalleluYah.

DISCLAIMERS

While I do my best to ensure that the information is accurate, always follow your own conscience and use your own discretion to ascertain what is true.

Information on this website is not intended as medical advice or substitution for professional medical care.

I don't agree with all of the information contained on the sources linked to on the site.

This website is dedicated to all.

Back to the home page