

Everyone Knows You Need A Pair

i used to have a pair
of rose quartz cabochon

carefully placed on the altar of my window sill

by the magnetism of my intention and the beauty of themselves

they were meant to draw a lover to my bed

i have slept alone here these last 1825 days

i'm setting out
for greener pastures

for mingling with hotter men in warmer places

as i am packing or selling nearly every little thing i find i only have one

rose quartz cabochon

i wonder where its mate went

maybe i swept it off its shelf making the bed

maybe i vacuumed it up without realizing

maybe that's why
i slept alone so long

everyone knows
you need a pair

of rose quartz cabochon
in your love corner

to draw yourself
a lover

