

Word endings:

a: noun

e: descriptor

i: preposition

o: verb

u: particle

banlo: greet, welcome, hello, hi

ba: good, goodness

be: good

bopa: poop, excrement, feces

bopo: poop

boska: female, woman

boske: female

bulanda: hat

da: I, me

dela: what

dele: what, which

denda: dog

dige: red

fa: relative pronoun

fubo: eat, consume

ga: you

gegze: flat

gima: bread

haga: person, human jala: day (period of 24 hours) jo: be (may be followed by a noun, descriptor, or preposition) jokso: valedic, goodbye kalano: search for, look for, hunt for, seek kasna: male, man

kasne: male

ke: plural, more than one kinlada: refrigerator, freezer lata: Earth (the planet)

lepsa: parent

li: and

lopigla: toilet

lukso: drink

madi: by means of, using, with matese: homosexual, gay, lesbian me: true, yes

nade: very, to a great extent

noba: bad, badness
nobe: bad
nome: false, not, no
novi: from, away from pebo: say, speak, talk, tell pi: in, inside, at poskilo: wear
sa: he, she, it
selo: like, enjoy
sobla: language
tano: cause, create, make teko: know
tilena: emotion
tu: placed at the beginning of the sentence to make it a yes/no question vela: love
velo: love
vesta: food
vi: to, toward vu: nominalizer particle waneklo: win, succeed at zu: placed at the beginning of the sentence to make it a command

Common phrases

Banlo! - Hello! / Welcome!

Jala be! - Good day!

Jokso! - Goodbye! / Bye!

Tilena ga jo dela? - How are you? (lit. "What is your emotion?")

Lopigla jo pi dela? - Where's the toilet?