

Haunted House

One sunny day this helpless little girl called Mary went wandering on her own but then out of nowhere she saw a haunted house, but she didn't know that yet. The was covered from head to toe with bats, spiders, spider webs and rotten old woods. She went to open the door then suddenly it opened by itself. She went in she was thinking do my eyes deceive me because she saw a witch brewing a magical potion. Mary went on walking deeper into the house then she saw one big cemetery outback it was now becoming dark, she turned around when she heard a sound coming from the cemetery Mary looked back and her mouth became wide open and she dropped everything in her hands. This was because the dead was coming alive once again. Mary ran as quick as she could but the undead was catching up. She screamed half way out of the house when she noticed one hand stirring a pot in the kitchen. Mary was frozen and completely forgot about the undead. The undead caught up to her and pulled their arms and legs right off their bodies. Mary absolutely screamed and the undead pulled her deeper intoer heard from again.
