

AI for Education GenAI Prompt Library

<https://www.aiforeducation.io/prompt-library>

- AI for Education provides over 100 AI prompts.
- The prompts are organized in categories including Administrative, Assessment, Communication, For Students, Lesson Planning, Professional Development, Social Emotional Learning, and Special Needs.

More Useful Things Prompt Library

<https://www.moreusefulthings.com/prompts>

- More Useful Things is run by Dr. Ethan Mollick and Dr. Lilach Mollick as a companion site to Ethan's blog at <https://www.oneusefulthing.org/>
- The Prompt Library is organized into categories for Instructor Aids, Student Exercises, and Other Prompts.

AI Prompt Library

<https://aipromptlibrary.org/library.html>

- The AI Prompt Library has interactive templates for assessments, lesson plans, writing prompts, rubrics, summarizing articles, feedback, and more.
- For each prompt you can fill in your specific information such as grade level, subject, objectives, and more.
- The site will then generate your custom prompt that you can copy and use.

The Little Book of Generative AI Prompts

<https://ictevangelist.com/wp-content/uploads/2023/10/The-Little-Book-of-Generative-AI-prompts-for-teachers.pdf>

- This collection of prompts is provided by Mark Anderson, the ICT Evangelist.
- He has organized the prompts by subject including English, Math, Science, World Language, History, Geography, Computing, Business, and Religious Studies.
- Inside each subject he has prompts for Workload Reduction, Resource Creation, Lesson Planning, Quiz Creation, and Miscellaneous.

Groovy Education Educator Prompt Library

<https://gruvyeducation.com/promptlibrary>

- This prompt library is provided by William Grube.
- The library includes dozens of well-crafted prompt templates for topics such as creating real-world scenarios, guided questions, grading rubrics, effective emails, lesson plans, icebreaker activities, goals, and more.
- Each prompt link opens a Google Doc with the prompt template you can copy, modify, and use.