The story of my sobriety, particularly the transforming effect of the Twelve Steps, is one of a growing realization, then the embracing and celebrating of all the ways that I was and am exactly like others in AA. Stories from the Big Book still remind me of this, as surely as the latest issue of the Grapevine. I accept today that differences of work, relationships, love, hopes, ethnicity, accomplishments, property, personality, etc.--all of which I still cherish--are dependent on my willingness to embrace the much more obvious ways I am exactly like others who share at AA meetings.

That experience of being "the same as," of being "one among many," of being "just another bozo on the bus" is critical to the maintenance of my spiritual condition. It is also congruent with AA's Tradition One that emphasizes both the individual's right "to think, talk, and act as he wishes," and the critical necessity of group behavior that strengthens the unity of our Fellowship.

Identfy, don't compare," my sponsor told me. "Look for a way in, not for a way out." "This is a we-based program." "We can do what, on my own unaided will, I cannot."
