Editor-in-Chief
CFD Letters

Dear Editor-in-Chief,

I am writing to submit my manuscript titled "[Title of Your Manuscript]" for consideration for publication in the CFD Letters (CFDL). The manuscript presents [briefly summarize the key focus of your study, highlighting its significance in the context of computer science and learning technologies]. I believe that the findings and contributions of this paper are in alignment with the aims and scope of your journal, particularly in the areas of computational fluid dynamics theory and applications.

The paper investigates [brief description of the study's methodology, results, and significance], and I believe its insights could provide valuable guidance for researchers and practitioners working to improve computational fluid dynamics theory and applications.

I confirm that this manuscript is original, has not been submitted for publication elsewhere, and does not conflict with any previous publications. All co-authors have agreed to the manuscript's submission, and I have disclosed any potential conflicts of interest. I am also prepared to address reviewer comments and make revisions as necessary to meet the journal's standards. In accordance with your submission guidelines, I would like to suggest the following potential reviewers for my manuscript:
