

Okay so just some observations I have gathered so far:

- Like rooms add together, no one can see their own color,
- Top chat does not match order of list to right,
- Time of merge 31m every room added,
- Name colors seem to be random,
- While in current chat your color will not change,
- If the time runs out and a like room is not found retry will happen after 1m,
- For every like chat merged the factor of a like chat diminishes by a factor of $\frac{1}{2}$
- Chat has an input rate limit of ~10-1 seconds

- Lobster is still missing

Abandon: Restart to group of 2

Stay: Creates a sub reddit of current chat and fixes your point of being

Grow: Join a chat of like size

Chat name:

(seems to take 2 letter/numbers from every name after merge to make new Chat name)

Theories

Robin is a Social experiment based on Race (Color of your name)

- Color of your Name vs other colors and their rarities?

Robin is a Tribal simulation experiment

- When tribes battle 3 things may happen
 1. Some members may leave the tribe to start their own
 2. Some members will leave with other previous tribe mates to create a stable tribe under the old name
 3. Some members will merge with the new tribe to create a new tribe of both former tribe with a new name

Robin is an experiment to see how Memes and “in jokes” are made, evolve and are then forgotten to the ether that is the internet if not recorded other places

- A joke is made in Chat
- That chat then merges with another chat and the joke gets bigger/evolves
- That chat merges again and the joke origin is lost
- That chat merges again and the OC of the Meme or “in joke” has left
- Ether
 1. The joke continues and takes a new form
 2. The joke is forgotten and disappears with the OP
