

Privacy Policy

Version: 1.1 updated on 01/03/2024

1. Initial Provisions:

The Connectopia application aims to create interactions and relationships among people, promoting the virtual meeting of people with similar beliefs and objectives, always with constant care and improvement of its PRIVACY POLICY, in order to ensure the greatest security for its users.

In this sense, the purpose of this document is to clarify to users of the Connectopia application its guidelines, rules, and recommendations, with the aim of maintaining the confidentiality of all private information of its customers in accordance with the current Brazilian legislation. It is highly recommended that all users of this community read this document in its entirety.

2. User Registration, Account, and Profile:

Both the registration, account, and profile of our users are entirely personal, exclusive, and non-transferable. Any form of use by third parties is prohibited, and the user's access password is exclusive, confidential, and non-transferable. Users can access their profiles and make changes to their personal data and other information within the Connectopia application only through this password, which is encrypted by the Connectopia application before being stored on the servers, and only the user and Connectopia will have access to change the password.

It is highly recommended that users create access passwords using combinations of numbers and letters that are difficult for others to identify, and it is also recommended to change the password every 3 (three) months at most.

Users must immediately notify Connectopia through its customer support channels if they notice any issues related to their password, especially if they notice any misuse of their account by third parties. It is the sole responsibility of the user for all activities that occur on their account.

Any information or data provided by the client to the Connectopia application that is not available for viewing by other users through the shared profile will be considered private. The user is fully responsible for the information published through the completion of their public profile (Religion, General Data, Biography, Appearance, Desired Profile, among others).

The Connectopia application is committed to always seeking to offer its customers high technology to protect private information and confidential data of its users, constantly working to prevent unauthorized access and use of such information by unauthorized individuals.

Private information will be kept absolutely confidential, except in cases of contrary judicial determinations or force majeure. Data related to credit card numbers will not be stored on our servers and databases, and their use is entirely the responsibility of financial institutions, banks, credit card companies, and companies responsible for verifying the provided data.

After completing their registration on the Connectopia application, the data provided and all future data added by the user to the Connectopia application are freely granted for use by Connectopia's proposed services, being stored in its database and servers.

The Connectopia application reserves the full right to:

a. use the emails and registration data of its users to send notifications and advertisements for its own products and services, those of its advertisers, and its partners;

b. use the public and private data of users collectively to generate statistics, which may be used by Connectopia for any purpose, always maintaining the individual privacy of the user;

c. edit or alter profiles and registrations of its users when errors or inadequacies in this PRIVACY POLICY or the TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF USE are identified);

d. inadvertently delete or block any profile (Basic or Premium) that may violate moral principles and good conduct, especially since it is a virtual community for interaction and relationships among Christians;

e. exempt itself from any degree of civil or criminal liability arising from problems or conflicts between its customers, both inside and outside the Connectopia application, that may arise from the content of information, images, and messages exchanged between its users, which are the sole responsibility of the users themselves.

3. User Data Policy:

a. Image Collection: This app collects image information from users to improve user experience and increase user security. This information includes photos taken by the user and images uploaded by users to the app. We respect the privacy of our users and ensure that image collection is carried out in a transparent manner.

a. Use of Images: The images collected are used to compose the user profile and also as a non-verbal communication mechanism via private chat between users. Please note that we do not share these images with third parties without the user's express consent, except as required by law. All images are stored and processed securely, respecting best information security practices.

4. User Data Deletion:

All users of the Connectopia app have the right to delete their account and thus the associated data at any time. To delete data, simply delete the mobile app from your device, we do not store any data on our servers.

5. Final Provisions:

All users of the Connectopia application should treat each other with politeness, respect, and good manners within our virtual community, in order to provide a cheerful, fun, and family-friendly environment for everyone, thereby supporting our main goal of bringing people together through healthy relationships guided by Christian principles and teachings.

From the moment of registration and initial access to the Connectopia application, the user will automatically declare their acceptance and full awareness of all the provisions.

Good luck and welcome to our community!!!
