

Trainer data

Name: Violet Thorn

Nicknames: Vi, Via, Ieti

Age: 17

Birthplace: Levincia, Paldea

Occupation: student/trainer 2nd year

School: Naranja Academy

Height: 5ft 6in

Weight: 135lb

Hair: platinum blonde, cut short with a single braid on the right side of her face that has a pokeball hair clip holding the end.

Eye color: light purple/lavender

Skin: pale and lightly freckled

Personality: a kindhearted person, she is inquisitive and always ready for a mental challenge or puzzle

-she is a scientist in training and has always dreamed of entering area zero to study the pokemon and flora there.

-She can be a bit oblivious to other people's feelings and doesn't talk about much besides her favorite subjects, pokemon and flora.

-Shy about anything romance related, turns red when dirty jokes are made. The kind to have an anime nosebleed when a hot guy takes his shirt off in front of her.

-Can get carried away talking and become oblivious to any attempt aside from loud/physical interruption to her tirade.

Goals: to become a scientist and to discover new things about pokemon and the world she lives in. Hoping to make it so pokemon and humans can live in easier synchronization. She also wants to discover and document new pokemon and flora.

Fears: thalassophobia(Deep water)

Battle strategy: avoids unnecessary battles, preferring to study pokemon from afar. When she does find herself cornered or unable to avoid a battle she will battle with her strongest pokemon for the matchup and doesn't give many callouts unless she sees it as necessary. Her team knows she prefers to flee and avoid truly hurting their opponents.

INVENTORY

Healing Items: 5 of each kind of healing potions, and a large stack of status condition heals. She also carries a first aid kit for herself which includes a stethoscope.

Berries: an assortment of the most useful berries and what is available where she is.

Pokeballs: she carries a small stack of 5 pokeballs, 2 ultra balls, and depending on what kind of area she is in, various other kinds of balls in a 2-5 stack in her bag.

Other: the packs on Kelp's back, pokedex, canteen, food, camping gear, tent, rope, her journals on pokemon and flora, several pens and pencils, binoculars/night vision goggles, a portable microscope, a set of paper maps just in case anything were to happen to her rotem phone.(the physical item rotem takes over can be destroyed causing the rotem to become loose. This makes its features useless in the wild until a replacement can be found.)

BACKGROUND

Family: mother; Rose Thorn(blonde hair, green eyes, and light tan skin. Of average build and height around 5ft7in, 165lb.

Father;[unknown to Vi](black hair and stormy gray/blue eyes. Pale skinned and tall at 6ft9in. Roughly 195lb of toned muscle.

History: Born in and raised outside Levincia to a single mother, Vi has been fascinated with pokemon and plants her entire life. Her mother is a florist with a large number of grass and water types in her employ.

Violet's first pokemon was a bud from one of her mother's cacnea. She potted and watered it diligently until it grew into a cacnea. His name is Bramble, or Braum for short. She has trained him and he enjoys battles, being her first protector in the wilds.

A few years later her first wild caught pokemon companion was Kilo, who saved her from drowning when she fell in a raging river.

Her third pokemon was the unusual water/ground type Mudsdale, who she hatched and raised from an egg. Shortly after he evolved she found Verde and added her to the team after saving her from the desert.

Her second most unusual companion is Malicai, a pound rescue, and a mix breed between arcanine and houndoom.

Her most recent and unusual friend added to the team was Angel, found at the rim of the mountains surrounding area zero.

School: She has gathered data on several new pokemon subspecies throughout her time as a student. Her studies of history in school have led to her determination to make life more easy for pokemon and humans to live together.

Doesn't have many close friends due to her bookish nature and tendency to go off on her own. She is part of a couple groups, namely the science club and the herbology club.

Career goals: to become a Poké professor. Her professor school entrance thesis is on the diversity of pokemon's natural habitats and the effect humans and their cities have on the pokemon and said habitats.

Pokémon #1:

Species: leafeon

Name: Verde

Nickname(s): leafbutt, lazy leaf, Vee

Gender: female

Level: 25

Nature: gentle

Ability: leaf guard

Appearance: a normal leafeon with excessively torn ears and tail

Personality: calm and quiet, she refuses to fight, instead acting as a companion to her trainer. Doesn't often go in her pokeball(except in extreme cold or dry heat).

Poké Ball: pokeball

How Trainer Met: found in a desert area dehydrated and wilting, Vi and Bramble saved her and gave her water.

Team dynamic: has a great friendship with Bramble, is somewhat afraid of Malicai, and is otherwise fine with her teammates.

Special Maneuvers: can generate a bubble of air around herself underwater(only as long as there is sunlight, so depth matters)

Moves:

- 1 grass whistle
