

Remember the Questioning Texts Handout? Good. You are going to complete one of those now, but do not yet record a text-specific question in the last row. After you have your copy ready to complete you can review the following questions and move on to the reading.

1. What information/ideas are presented at the beginning of the text?
2. In the first paragraph, what does the dog know that the man doesn't? How does this foreshadow what happens later to the man?
3. Pay attention to and highlight words and phrases that are critical for understanding the passage and may also be less familiar to you.

Submit your copy of the Questioning Texts Handout and the answers to these questions.
