There are 23 "valid" rulesets, counting Wheat's emptyquote rules but not counting Robust Laser's Fogel-only rules. The rulesets are numbered in order from 1 for g0m's to 23 for Kaynato's.

Let the post number be P.

Here are the rules:

1. The post follows Rule 1 of ruleset P%23 + 1.
2. The post follows Rule 2 of ruleset $(2P + \text{floor}(P/23))$%23 + 1.
3. The post follows Rule 3 of ruleset $(3P + \text{floor}(P/23^2))$%23 + 1.
4. The post follows Rule 4 of ruleset $(4P + \text{floor}(P/23^3))$%23 + 1.
5. The post follows Rule 5 of ruleset $(5P + \text{floor}(P/23^4))$%23 + 1.

Fogel Rules Hell
Winning post: http://eagle-time.com/showthread.php?tid=1482&pid=134408#pid134408
(Ixcaliber, Sruixan, Papers)
Ruleset: http://eagle-time.com/showthread.php?tid=1482&pid=134416#pid134416

When the round started, the ruleset was g0m's original ruleset.

Then, every time a rule was passed, Fogel changed it to the corresponding rule in the next ruleset, using the same set of rules Akumu did. (So Fogel excluded his rules.) This happened when he judged a post.

If any mistakes were made they had to be left to stand else it would mess things up to much.

If anyone had passed the twenty-third version of any rule, Fogel would have made the last one auto-pass (but also granted a free pass to cyber's "must break one of rules 1-3" rule 5 if that became impossible)
