This Good Faith Estimate is not intended to serve as a recommendation for treatment or a requirement that you need to attend a specified number of visits. We’ll recommend the number of sessions after your initial consultation. Together, we'll decide what's best for you based on your unique needs. The total cost of services may depend on your progress, how many sessions you attend, and whether you request additional sessions. You're always in control of your journey, and you can stop services at any point if you choose.

If you have any questions about your treatment plan, payment options, or the information provided in this Good Faith Estimate don't hesitate to reach out! We're here to help.

The total cost of the Undivided Attention NICE Index ADHD and Autism evaluation is $3,000.00.

Payment is expected in full once the evaluation process has been initiated.

A $500 fee will be assessed as a non-refundable 'deposit' when the Interview appointment is scheduled.

The remaining $2,500.00 balance will be processed at the start of the Interview Session.

Description of Services:

The Interview and Feedback sessions are a discovery process not limited to diagnosis. We will be conducting a thorough symptom analysis that will guide the management plan. In the first visit (90 minutes), we'll get to know you better by asking about: educational history, social/relationships, legal history, occupational history, past medical history, medications, surgeries, family history, alcohol and substance use, current symptoms, severity, and areas of executive dysfunction, and negative impacts. We will also conduct, time permitting, a brief, limited physical exam possibly including blood pressure, 6-Lead ECG (if needed), and weight. If there is documentation from external providers needed to aid in the diagnosis, you will be asked to sign Release of Information forms.

Testing:

You will then be asked to complete, on your own time, if possible, remote assessments of your cognitive status, mental health surveys, and a character strengths survey. If needed, there is an option for you to utilize time, space and technology here in the office to complete this work for a fee of $75 per 180 minutes.

This evaluation will explore the possibility of ADHD as well as the less obvious presentation of Autism Spectrum Disorder, PTSD, Bipolar Disorder, OCD, Substance abuse, Depression, Anxiety, Sensory Processing issues, Alexithymia, and more. We will also utilize standardized rating scales to evaluate the impact of your symptoms on your daily functioning objectively.

This approach to your evaluation is neuro-affirming and should be viewed as a collaborative exploration of your identity. The goal is to help you align your internal experience of the world with your external experience so that you can become your whole, integrated, authentic self.

Feedback and Treatment Plan:

If it does not appear to be ADHD, you will receive a thorough explanation of how that conclusion has been reached and provided with resources and referrals for services appropriate to your unique needs.

If ADHD is revealed, you may schedule a 60-minute medication consultation appointment and enroll in the Undivided Attention Signature ADHD Management Program – The Interest & Identity Series™. The program provides you with information critical to your ability to manage your health. This is a pioneering and paradigm-shifting deep psycho-educational dive into the ADHD nervous system, how it is different from a ‘typical’ nervous-system, how it impacts your day-day functioning and your general mental and physical health. And finally, what to do about it. This takes place over 6 60-minute sessions (30 minutes of content followed by 30 minutes of Q&A) which are offered as virtual small-group sessions most Fridays.

The goal is to set you up for the best possible outcomes. The evaluation process, and the management program that follows it, is evidence-based and designed precisely for this purpose, even if you have previously been evaluated for, and diagnosed with ADHD***.

Subsequent visits (once the Interest & Identity sessions are completed) either virtual or in person, will be either 60-minute counseling sessions, or brief 30-minute medication check-ins depending on your progress, stability, and preferences.

The total cost of “onboarding” ‘ADHD Medication Management’ with Undivided Attention is $3810.00 ($3000 for the evaluation, $210 Medication Consultation session, and $600 for the Interest & Identity Series). The evaluation as described, and completion of the 6 psychoeducational sessions are required for continued stimulant medication management beyond 3 months of initiation.

What is the value to you with this approach?

- Comprehensive evaluation informed by the latest, up-to-date research providing rich, meaningful information to deepen your insight into your experiences of the world.
- A signature ADHD 'coaching/psychoeducational' program (the cost of which alone can range up to $2000) designed to give you an unparalleled understanding of your ADHD and coexisting conditions.
- Proprietary ADHD Workbook that will provide ADHD education, opportunities for self-exploration, and medication effectiveness tracking, in addition to countless other resources.
- Medication management.
- A unique, state-of-the-art, multi-modal treatment approach that is not readily available elsewhere.
- Better outcomes!

The Timeline:

In the first 12 months after a new diagnosis, it is recommended that we follow up closely.

The logistics:

- Interview
- Remote testing process and data gathering
- Feedback session within 3-4 weeks from Interview
- Medication Consultation
- Interest & Identity Series Group Psychoeducation Sessions 1-6
- 30–60-minute Check in within 2-4 weeks of new medication or medication change and every 3-6 months thereafter is suggested.

Frequency of future sessions is dictated by the amount of therapeutic support you wish to receive, as well as medication monitoring. Due to the very common, and quite impairing memory challenges, it helps to keep re-visiting the concepts you will learn in The Interest & Identity Series so that you can successfully implement effective strategies, embody what it means to have an Interest-Driven Nervous System, let go of internalized ableism, and heal shame.

If you are prescribed stimulant medications, expect to schedule a 30-minute session every 3-6 months. You are welcome to schedule more visits - this is the minimum requirement and one of those visits must be in-person per year to meet regulatory guidelines around controlled substances.

For non-stimulant medications, visits can be scheduled every 3-12 months depending on the stability of symptoms. Most clients seem to do best when they maintain a 30–60-minute session monthly after the Interest & Identity Series.

Additional Services:

Document preparation billed at $150 per hour. Examples include:

- Occupational or academic accommodations planning
- Disability statements
- International travel medication certifications
- FMLA requests

Financial Matters:

Services rendered by Undivided Attention are Health Savings Account and Flexible Spending Account eligible.

After the initial year of service, and depending upon stability, clients may expect one 30 to 60-minute appointment every 3-6 months as long as Undivided Attention is prescribing any of your medications. Thus, the out-of-pocket costs for subsequent year(s) of service may fall in a range from: $200 - $600 per year.
