Abstract - The abstract should concisely describe the background of the paper, aims, method of the research, results and discussion (result/findings), conclusions, and implication of study. It should be about 150 words (minimum) and 250 words (maximum).

Keywords: keyword, keyword, keyword, keyword, keyword (3-5 words)

1. Introduction

Indent the first line of every paragraph by 1 cm. State the objectives of your work and provide an adequate background, avoiding a detailed literature survey or a summary of the results. Explicitly state the gap in the literature, which signifies the significance of your research.

Review the key concept you use in the research and provide previous relevant studies/investigations that are relevant to your paper.

2. Method

This section includes research design, data collection instruments, participants/sample, procedure of data collection, and data analysis.

3. Results and Discussion

Present the results of your work. Use graphs and tables if appropriate, but also summarize your main findings in the text. Do NOT discuss the results or speculate as to why something happened; that goes in the Discussion.

Highlight the most significant results, but do not repeat what has been written in the Results section. Connect your findings with the literature review or theories you use in your research.

4. Conclusion

Provide the conclusion to your study, and final words on the value of your analysis, research, or paper. Limitations of your study should be addressed. Recommendations for future research related to your topic should also be mentioned.
