<https://www.amazon.com/dp/B07CSF8WTG>

<https://www.amazon.com/dp/B072ZT76CV>

3. Write what tools are needed to replace the battery. Write a title for each product. For example: «<Product-1> - Best All-Around Product». A brief description of what this product is best for.

Or a more advantageous option, also suitable for solving this problem: «<Product-2> - The best product in this price category ", etc.

4. Feel free to bold or underline what you think is important.

5. Color blocks. Please, mark one paragraph in each product review with following color:

Yellow: usefull information

Red: pay attention, problems etc.

Green: great features

6. Products. Each review should be close to following structure:

- Overall description, impressions, packaging, materials etc.
- Performance and technical issues if any
- Recommended or not, why
- Pros and cons. Please, don't forget to include this section in your review.

7. Buyer's Guide. Explain technologies behind, answer FAQ if you see any on Amazon, advantages and functionalities of products. All this goes here.

8. Guide to replace the battery. Write as a step-by-step instruction with a heading for each step, and an indication of the device by which to perform this action. Use keywords:

replacements, iphone battery replacement, apple battery replacement. Use the photos for a visual explanation.

9. At the end of the guide, attach a video on this topic, which preserves the sequence of actions described in the guide.

10. Conclusion. Short summary. You can also mention other products, with enhanced functionality or with other prices.

Writing Guidelines

- Be conversational and engaging. Ask questions frequently and be friendly in the post. Try to relate to reader situations and stories.
- Short, concise sentences are preferred. Convey your ideas as simply and clearly as possible. Avoid fluff/filler words for the sake of word count.
- Use everyday vocabulary – this isn't an academic paper.
- Cite the source if needed. Only cite credible & authoritative sites (wikipedia, big magazines, webmd, etc. Only link to high quality and in-depth work)
- Please backup ALL your facts with links to evidence preferably from a site with some kind of authority in the market
 - When link out, insert the link on the most relevant words (<like this) in the sentence instead of pasting the entire URL.

DO NOT

1. DON'T include full technical data lists (dimensions, lumens, color temperature etc.). Just mention key points or key features in a review. There will be a separate table with all that data you could refer to.
2. DON'T copy or quote any of the reviews from Amazon. You could only rewrite them in your own way.
4. DON'T try to link product features with benefits using a lot of sentences like
 - "This product has [feature], which is great because..."
 - "Another good feature is [feature], which can help you with..."
5. DON'T try to mention personal stories when linking features and benefits like
 - That would have been really useful when <insert story>.
 - I really appreciate that feature considering <some personal issue or story>

6. No salesy language.

- Wrong: "You'll find peace of mind when your dog finally stops barking!"
- Wrong: "You can rest easy knowing your dog behavior troubles are finally over."
- Wrong: Anything else that sounds like it could be in an infomercial
- Instead, use conditional language ("If," "might," "could," etc.) if you make recommendations:
 - Correct: "This might be a good choice for those who want an in-home training option."

- Correct: "If it's important to you to find a positive dog trainer, this might be a good place to start."

7. No filler language

- Please, every sentence should add information.
