

South County Art Association Instructor

Judi Goudreau

Judi Goudreau grew up in the rolling hills and farmland of upstate New York and came to Rhode Island to attend RISD, earning her Bachelor of Arts degree in Illustration. She now lives in “The Ocean State” where her love of natural landscapes and light show in her coastal paintings.

Working in her studio in Pawtucket, she paints with oils on birch panels and sculpts in stoneware clay. Her colorful oil paintings and expressive animal sculptures can be found in galleries and festivals throughout New England.

Judi’s sensitivity to color and form shine in the way she represents water rippling in the shadows of boats, as well as the expressiveness in the positioning of each hand formed animal figure; capturing light and personality in oil paint as well as clay. Her solo show “Golden Hours” in Woods Hole, Massachusetts invited viewers to the magical time of day at sunrise and sunset when the world is bathed in a golden light.

If you would like to see her work in person you can find it at 6 1/2 Bridge Street in South Dartmouth, MA; Handworks Gallery in Woods Hole, MA; RISDWorks in Providence, RI; 80 Fountain Street in Pawtucket, RI; and online at judigoudreau.com and RISDmade.com.
