The text below is for questions number 9 to 12.

I have a pet. My pet is a dog named Bonny. Bonny is an adorable brown dog that has a few black spots spread across his body and tail. Bonny has fluffy velvety ears. Even though he has a very strong body frame, he has a very gentle face and is always a friendly dog to those whom he knows. If a stranger approaches outside the house, however, he can get very aggressive. He always barks loudly to attract our attention to the approaching stranger. There is one thing that I especially like about having this pet, that is I know that my little friend will always be there for me to protect me or my family. Therefore, in some way, Bonny gives me a feeling of protection. Bonny loves food, especially bones. When we fed him his regular food, we always give him a few bones to chew. Bonny can spend whole afternoons chewing bones because he loves them so much. Whenever he is worried, he looks at us with desperate eyes that appear as if he is sad. He does so while wagging his tail from one side to the other. Whenever we see him exhibiting these signs, we immediately prepare a quick meal and some bones for him to eat. I love Bonny so much because he is just like a friend to me.
