

Match the words to the sentences

breakfast, carefully, dangerous, fall, fun, go, monster, squirrel, story, teeth

MERLIN: Oh, oh, there-there you are, boy. Snick snack snorum! How in the world did you ever get out of that mess?

WART: That, that big fish almost swallowed me and, and Archimedes, he, he saved me.

MERLIN: Oh, what do you know about that?

ARCHIMEDES: I did nothing of the sort! I intended to eat him. Young perch is my favourite dish. You know that!

MERLIN: Do you believe that, Wart?

WART: Well, I...

SIR ECTOR: Wart! Waaaarrrt!

WART: Oh, I've got to go. Thank you, Merlin. It was so much (1)_____. And Archimedes, I-I...

ARCHIMEDES: Pinfeathers, boy!

SIR ECTOR: Wart! Where are you, Wart?

WART: Coming! I'm coming.

MERLIN: Now, Archimedes. Why would you half-drown yourself for a tidbit of fish? And after such a big (2)_____?

ARCHIMEDES: Pinfeathers and... gully fluff!

WART: We were doing fine until we got in deep water. Then along comes this huge pike with big jaws and sharp, jagged (3)_____.

SIR KAY: Oh, turn him off, Dad.

WART: He was a (4)_____! The biggest fish I ever saw.

SIR ECTOR: And, boy, that's the biggest fish story I ever heard.

WART: But it's true, sir.

SIR ECTOR: That's three demerits for being late and three more for the fish (5)_____. Now, hop into the kitchen!

SIR KAY: I told you the Wart was loony.

SIR ECTOR: Yes, well, he's either out of his head or, ah, there's something mighty fishy going on around here.

WART: For every high there is a low, For every to there is a fro, To and fro, Stop and (6)_____, That's what makes the world go round. Oh, it's you, Merlin, sir.

MERLIN: Ah, yes my lad. Now, have you ever... considered being a (7)_____?

WART: Well, no, I don't suppose.

MERLIN: Well, now, ah, there is a tiny creature with enormous problems. How he has survived throughout the ages is one of nature's big mysteries. His life is hazardous. Downright dangerous. Uh, would you like to try it?

WART: Oh, no, I'd better not.

MERLIN: Oho! It's too (8)_____ for you, eh?

WART: Oh, no, it's not that. It's just that I've got six demerits. All this work to do.

MERLIN: What a mess! What a medieval muddle. We'll have to modernize it. Start an assembly-line system. All right now. One and a-two and a-three and a-four! Higitus figitus migitus mum Skitun de bitun de batun de dum

WART: But I'm supposed to do it.

MERLIN: No one will know the difference, son. Who cares as long as the work gets done? Rubbedy, Scrubbedy, Sweepety, Flow. Come on, son. Let's go, let's go. [In the trees] Wart! Wart! Now, now, take it easy. Take it easy, boy. Wart! No, no boy! No, no! Wart! Now, what did I tell you? Always look before you leap.

WART: Well, I made it, didn't I?

MERLIN: Yes, yes, you made it. You made it. But you, you can't always trust to luck, boy. Now, first thing you start with the short jumps. Gauge the distance (9)_____. Ah, there, you see? Even-even then you can miss. So, don't take gravity too lightly or it'll catch up with you.

WART: What's gravity?

MERLIN: Gravity is what causes you to (10)_____.

WART: Oh, like a stumble or-or a trip?

MERLIN: Yes, it's like a stumble or a...No, no, no, it's the force that pulls you downward. The phenomenon that any two material particles or bodies if free to move, will be accelerated toward each other.

WART: Um, Merlin, how will we get by?

Answers:

MERLIN: Oh, oh, there-there you are, boy. Snick snack snorum! How in the world did you ever get out of that mess?

WART: That, that big fish almost swallowed me and, and Archimedes, he, he saved me.

MERLIN: Oh, what do you know about that?

ARCHIMEDES: I did nothing of the sort! I intended to eat him. Young perch is my favourite dish. You know that!

MERLIN: Do you believe that, Wart?

WART: Well, I...

SIR ECTOR: Wart! Waaaarrrt!

WART: Oh, I've got to go. Thank you, Merlin. It was so much (1)fun. And Archimedes, I-I...

ARCHIMEDES: Pinfeathers, boy!

SIR ECTOR: Wart! Where are you, Wart?

WART: Coming! I'm coming.

MERLIN: Now, Archimedes. Why would you half-drown yourself for a tidbit of fish? And after such a big (2)breakfast?

ARCHIMEDES: Pinfeathers and... gully fluff!

WART: We were doing fine until we got in deep water. Then along comes this huge pike with big jaws and sharp, jagged (3)teeth.

SIR KAY: Oh, turn him off, Dad.

WART: He was a (4)monster! The biggest fish I ever saw.

SIR ECTOR: And, boy, that's the biggest fish story I ever heard.

WART: But it's true, sir.

SIR ECTOR: That's three demerits for being late and three more for the fish (5)story. Now, hop into the kitchen!

SIR KAY: I told you the Wart was loony.

SIR ECTOR: Yes, well, he's either out of his head or, ah, there's something mighty fishy going on around here.

WART: For every high there is a low, For every to there is a fro, To and fro, Stop and (6)go, That's what makes the world go round. Oh, it's you, Merlin, sir.

MERLIN: Ah, yes my lad. Now, have you ever... considered being a (7)squirrel?

WART: Well, no, I don't suppose.

MERLIN: Well, now, ah, there is a tiny creature with enormous problems. How he has survived throughout the ages is one of nature's big mysteries. His life is hazardous. Downright dangerous. Uh, would you like to try it?

WART: Oh, no, I'd better not.

MERLIN: Oho! It's too (8)dangerous for you, eh?

WART: Oh, no, it's not that. It's just that I've got six demerits. All this work to do.

MERLIN: What a mess! What a medieval muddle. We'll have to modernize it. Start an assembly-line system. All right now. One and a-two and a-three and a-four! Higitus figitus migitus mum

Skitun de bitun de batun de dum

WART: But I'm supposed to do it.

MERLIN: No one will know the difference, son. Who cares as long as the work gets done? Rubbedy, Scrubbedy, Sweepety, Flow. Come on, son. Let's go, let's go. [In the trees] Wart! Wart! Now, now, take it easy. Take it easy, boy. Wart! No, no boy! No, no! Wart! Now, what did I tell you? Always look before you leap.

WART: Well, I made it, didn't I?

MERLIN: Yes, yes, you made it. You made it. But you, you can't always trust to luck, boy. Now, first thing you start with the short jumps. Gauge the distance (9)carefully. Ah, there, you see? Even-even then you can miss. So, don't take gravity too lightly or it'll catch up with you.

WART: What's gravity?

MERLIN: Gravity is what causes you to (10)fall.

WART: Oh, like a stumble or-or a trip?

MERLIN: Yes, it's like a stumble or a...No, no, no, it's the force that pulls you downward. The phenomenon that any two material particles or bodies if free to move, will be accelerated toward each other.

WART: Um, Merlin, how will we get by?