

Dr. Catherine de Boer is an Associate Professor at the School of Social Work at Memorial University in St. John's, Newfoundland, Canada. She has a Bachelor of Social Work from King's College at the University of Western Ontario, a Master of Arts (in Religion) from the University of Toronto and a Master of Theological Studies, a Master of Social Work and a PhD in Social Work from Wilfrid Laurier University. Her primary research interests are in the areas of identity development and transformation and narrative studies. She is particularly interested in the impact of social group memberships (such as one's religious group) on one's sense of self and likewise the associated identity implications of disengagement. Dr. de Boer's dual academic credentials in social work and religion make her uniquely suited to exploring the impact of membership in and disengagement from religious totalistic groups. In addition to her academic work, Catherine has a small private practice called The Landing (www.thelandingservices.ca) offering training, consultation and counselling (either face-to-face or online). She can be contacted by email catherine@thelandingservices.ca or by phone 1 (709) 682-8068 or toll free at 1 (866) 325-6444. You can also reach her at Memorial University at cdeboer@mun.ca or by phone 1 (709) 864-2554.
