What's Up in Caribbean Marine News

Florida Sets Lionfish Removal Record With 36K Catches in 2026 F

Turning an ocean invasive species into opportunity: how Lionfish Caribbean is protecting coral reefs - Blue Life Hub

Caribbean Represented at Coral Reef Symposium

Launch of "Caribbean Biological Corridor's 30x30 Plus Marine Action Plan" Marks Major Milestone in Multi-Country Ocean Conservation

CariCOF Caribbean Climate Outlooks: October 2026 – NDMD St Kitts

Strong El Niño may bring drought, humid heat to Caribbean over next three months - Jamaica Observer

Posted: 1st August, 2026

Guest Opinion: Caribbean reefs aren't lost to coral bleaching yet

Climate bodies unite to protect Caribbean oceans - CNC3

Energy transition still stuck on paper, report warns - Trinidad Guardian

T&T's deep sea reveals hidden ecosystems - Trinidad Guardian

Govt exploring sargassum-to-biofuel opportunities – Straughn - Barbados Today

Posted: 4th July, 2026

Canada-funded STAR-Fish ramps up clean energy interventions for Caribbean fisheries

Jamaica signs onto Ocean Coordination Mechanism, strengthening Caribbean blue economy partnership - Dominica News Online

T&T prepares for first deep-sea expedition

Caribbean maritime leaders strengthen regional cooperation in Guyana

Maritime Crime and Illegal Fishing Threaten More Than Ecology – State Minister Witter

New Report Warns Offshore Oil Exploration Could Endanger Jamaica's Marine Ecosystems

Posted: 28th March, 2026

Largest 'marine bioinvasion' of sargassum ever recorded heading to Florida, Caribbean | WGCU News

Spectacular images reveal unique sea creatures and corals off Caribbean islands

DoE secures UK funding for new shark study

Jamaica prepares to ratify regional wildlife protection protocol within three months - Samuda

MSC Supporting Caribbean Reef Recover

US Lifts Ban on Fish and Fish Products From Grenada

Fully Immersed: Sandals Foundation and the UWI Discovery Bay Marine Lab Bring Jamaica's Marine Ecosystems to Life with 3D Experience

Caribbean islands seek $200 million for regional biodiversity push

Posted: 28th February, 2026

PM Holness says Caribbean region must prepare for climate shocks, calls for unity among member states

Coral bleaching: How warming seas are transforming the world's reefs

The worst coral bleaching event ever recorded damaged over 50% of reefs | ScienceDaily

Atlantic Council to host inaugural US–Caribbean Maritime and Ports Forum in Miami

TNC Caribbean Workshop Strengthens Scientific Capacity to Improve Hurricane Damage Assessment

Saint Vincent and the Grenadines Receives Equipment for Sargassum Management through Japan-funded Project

Posted: 5th October, 2025

Saint Vincent and the Grenadines launches a pilot project on sargassum to turn a challenge into an opportunity

Jamaica Marks Maritime Awareness Week With Call to Protect Ocean

GGGI, CBF forge partnership to Advance Blue Economy across the Caribbean

Fisheries and Aquaculture take center stage at high-level and technical events during Caribbean Week of Agriculture

UBEC Hosts Business Development Services Information Sessions in Saint Vincent and the Grenadines to Support Blue Economy MSMEs

Youth in Caribbean Aquaculture, Duke University, to host online 'meet & greet' session

Ocean Exchange Names Finalists for Three Non-Dilutive Awards

Government hands over 11 fishing vessels to fishers in Soufriere

Posted: 30th August, 2025

Harnessing sargassum for Caribbean development

CCCCC Supports Barbados' Water Security with Official Commissioning of 50,000-Imperial Gallon Tank at QEH

UNEP Cartagena Convention Secretariat to Host Major Intergovernmental Meetings on Marine Protection and Pollution

Young 'eco-warriors' challenged to design sustainable island

Oracabessa Marine Trust: Strengthening the Capacity of Jamaica's National Marine Protected Areas Network for Rapid Reef Assessments to Support Coral Reef Management

CoralCarib: Advancing Climate-Resilient Coral Restoration in the Dominican Republic

Anse Chastanet Saint Lucia Reef Restorations Updates

Momentum builds towards marine biodiversity treaty, as experts convene in New York

Media awards from outstanding environmental reporting presented by Nature Conservancy and Caribbean Broadcasting Union

Bajan innovator recognised on stage

'I found a way to turn seaweed into fuel'

Posted: 2nd August, 2025

Jamaica Nearing Completion of Climate Adaptation Plan

Small island nations provide big environmental solutions but need finance partners

Antigua and Barbuda Joins the IOC as 152nd Member State

Prime Minister Holness Closes 49th CARICOM Heads of Government Meeting with Bold Commitments on Security, Trade, Governance, Movement, and Regional Unity

Nature sanctuary to launch environmental academy for youth

Da Silva: Sanctuary alone can't save fragile Graeme Hall ecosystem

Deployment of Underwater Glider RU29 in the Caribbean Sea for the 2025 Hurricane Season

Posted: 28th June, 2025

A Bill for an Act to establish a sperm whale reserve in Dominica goes to Parliament on Tuesday

The Bahamas Takes Bold Step To Protect Coral Reefs With New Gene Bank

Reef Renewal Foundation Bonaire Produces Over 236,000 Coral Larvae in Major Breakthrough for Caribbean Reef Recovery

US-based foundation gives scholarships boost to maritime training in Jamaica, other Caribbean nations

Professor Dale Webber Advances Caribbean Ocean and Climate Agenda at International Conferences

Barbados to explore ocean thermal energy development with Global OTEC

Celebrating 20+ years of biodiversity protection through SPAW Protocol

CAF to invest USD 2.5 billion to boost the blue economy in Latin America and the Caribbean

Posted: 31st May, 2025

Christopher Corbin | UNEP congratulates Jamaican government on environmental focus for Labour Day

Latin America and the Caribbean Moves Forward on a Shared Position For Inclusive Marine Economy

OECS Commission – Development Partners conclude events focused on strengthening investment facilitation for sustainable development

Grenada Hosts Historic First Meeting of Wider Caribbean Ocean Coordination Mechanism

UK and UNEP Join Forces with Jamaica to Tackle Marine Pollution Threatening Coastal Livelihoods and Food Security

How a toxic seaweed choking Caribbean beaches could become a valuable resource

Promoting Fisher-led Implementation of the SSF Guidelines in Saint Vincent and Grenadines

Trash Talk: CARICOM Declares War on Plastic Waste

UK, UNEP join forces with Jamaica to tackle marine pollution

Alfredo Giron | The business case for a sustainable blue economy

CARICOM launches environmental policy framework to tackle climate crisis

Posted: 3rd May, 2025

C'bean, Lat-Am cities partner to reduce plastic pollution

FAO supports producing the superfood that's helping to grow the Caribbean's Blue Economy

Belize Advocates for Caribbean Concerns at International Maritime Climate Meetings

Cities of Latin America and The Caribbean Join Forces For a Plastic Pollution-Free Environment Throughout a Circular Economy Approach

CARICOM coordination on ocean governance under BBNJ ramps up

CARICOM begins Regional Ocean Policy Consultations

A Connected Caribbean – Dolphins on the move in a sea under pressure

How the GEF is tackling plastic pollution

Marine Conservation Experts Discuss Sustainable Funding in Curaçao Workshop

Posted: 5th April, 2025

Researchers identify 'tipping point' that caused Sargassum inundations in the Caribbean

Caribbean reef sharks rebound in Belize with shark fishers' help

UK-backed blue carbon workshop boosts Caribbean access to marine climate finance

Discussions on Caribbean Blue Economy Advanced

How mariners can help slow the spread of coral disease

Barbados Advances Seafood Traceability & Sustainability with Smart Tech

Groundbreaking fisheries projects in Barbados

Posted: 1st March, 2025

Newly Identified IMMAs Spotlight Critical Whale and Marine Mammal Habitats in the Northwest Atlantic and Caribbean

Major but brief earthquake triggers tsunami warning

Montego Bay Waterfront Protection Project allocated $350M to complete

Caribbean Biodiversity Fund (CBF) was in Kingston, Jamaica, engaging with key partners—including Global Affairs Canada (GAC)—to discuss the progress of the Caribbean Organizations for a Resilient Environment (CORE) Project

The 2nd MSPforum for Latin America and the Caribbean

IDB promises to continue being steadfast partner to the Caribbean

Inside the effort to save an iconic Caribbean coral reef

Caribbean Blue Economy Stakeholders to Convene in Jamaica for BE-CLME+ Fisheries Project Meetings

Posted: 1st February, 2025

Tackling SCTLD with IMA

Historic Step taken on Ocean Governance in the Wider Caribbean

Protecting the Greater Caribbean's beaches

Conservationists warn of draft bill's devastating impacts

Jamaica reports growth in Marine Fish Production

Listening to Ocean Giants: Advancing Whale Research in Antigua & Barbuda

St. Kitts-Nevis Ratifies Cartegena Convention Protocols

Posted: 6th January, 2025

Deeper Risks (Part 2): Small Nations Manipulated into Deep Sea Mining

DigiFish Project: Safety at Sea with Cutting-Edge Satellite Technology

Caribbean shorebird populations face critical decline

Dr Drew: Regional collaboration in the face of disaster is essential

The Bahamas will refinance part of its debt to protect its famous turquoise waters

Guardians of the Caribbean: EarthCheck joins USAID-funded PADF program to protect marine biodiversity in the Caribbean

Jamaica's IMO membership is critical for Caribbean States

UK government announces over J$27 million in funding to support Jamaica's marine conservation efforts

Posted: 30th November, 2024

Across Islands and Oceans: Bridging Ideas Between Caribbean and Pacific Fisheries

OECS Member states advancing 30×30 Vision for the Ocean at COP16

CAF will reach 35% green financing in 2024

Protecting reefs to protect sharks

Local groups drive creation of new Puerto Rico marine protected area

SVGEF empowers students in Sea Turtle conservation efforts

Bahamas to refinance debt for marine conservation & climate projects

44 per cent of coral species threatened with extinction – IUCN

"Diving" into Anguilla's New Tourism Policy

Posted: 2nd November, 2024

USAID Launches Regional Program to Promote Marine Biodiversity in the Caribbean Region

Antigua and Barbuda set to prohibit sand exports

Antigua and Barbuda has agreed to ban the fishing of parrot fish

Commonwealth nations adopt pivotal ocean declaration in Samoa

Regeneration remedy - Corals show promise one year post extinction scare, but seabed looks like 'a graveyard'

Caribbean leaders unite in Port-of-Spain to drive action for a zero waste future

COP 16 finalizes framework

A recent study explored the spread of a disease affecting sea fans in the Dutch Caribbean

Posted: 5th October, 2024

“Small islands are innovators for the ocean”

RedLAC Congress in Saint Lucia Set to Empower Regional Conservation Projects

What’s at stake for Latin America and the Caribbean at COP16 in Cali?

BIODIVERSITY / Restoring coral reefs: a priority for several Caribbean islands

Government committed to securing fisheries and related industries, says Defoe

Resilience-focused fisheries workshop conducted yesterday

Posted: 31st August, 2024

Belize – Where’s the Data?

Fishing industry struggles to recover from Beryl

FAO and Trinidad and Tobago strengthen collaboration ties with new Country Programming Framework for 2023-2026

Rainforest Caribbean, NCB, JSE partner on support for fisheries sector

The Valiant Effort to Restore the Caribbean’s Sea Urchins

T&T deep water bid round: A gateway to energy opportunities

$24 million allocated for regional sustainability project funding

The Reef Renewal Foundation Bonaire's restoration efforts

2 Years of Action: Delivering on Belize’s Commitment to Ocean Conservation

Innovative invertebrate research to save the reefs

Posted: 06th August, 2024

Advancing green shipping in the Caribbean

Hurricane Beryl: An opportunity for collaborative research

Regional Workshop on the IMO 2023 GHG Strategy to Reduce Shipping Emissions in the Caribbean

ISA Assembly convenes for 29th session

Unlocking Solutions: GC-MS Technology and Ecological Assessment in Response to Tobago's Oil Spill Crisis

Guyana to advocate recognition of climate change as threat to global peace and security at Summit of the Future negotiations

Strong Together: Weathering Hurricane Beryl on Union Island

Posted: 06th June, 2024

Govt will back $500m Rocky Point project, says PM

Turtle friendly lighting is a proven solution in sea turtle conservation

Island states win historic climate case in world oceans court

NOAA-OLE/GCFI Regional IUU Fishing Enforcement Workshop

In the Caribbean, Hammerhead Sharks Return to School

Stony coral tissue loss disease is shifting the ecological balance of Caribbean reefs

New initiative to strengthen sustainable blue economy in the Caribbean takes off

Posted: 04th May, 2024

NOAA confirms 4th global coral bleaching event

Sargassum Seaweed Growth In Caribbean Threatens Public Health And Economy

Kneyzus Energy, EMA, The Cropper Foundation and Sustainable Ocean Alliance Caribbean collaboratively hosted an Earth Day 2024 event

DoE Turtle team kicked off the 2024 nesting season

Department of Environment staff celebrated Earth Day with a morning snorkel with the turtles at Spotts Beach

Dominican Republic pledges to protect 30 per cent of its waters

The Bahamas commits to ocean conservation with signing of UN agreement

Posted: 06th April, 2024

Protecting Caribbean reefs from invasive coral Unomia stolonifera

Government vows to take fisheries sector to higher heights

Barbados Little Fish In Big Pond Say Sustainability Experts

Caribbean Fisheries Forum Concludes Deliberations On Fisheries And Aquaculture

Sea robot to explore Caribbean sea for climate research

The Blue Economy: An Ocean of Opportunity for Women

Six Months After the Heat Spiked, Caribbean Corals Are Still Reeling

Posted 2nd March, 2024

Tobago coasts in danger after sunken boat causes oil spill

Setbacks For Sustainability

Concern for the coral reefs in St. Vincent and the Grenadines

IMA Assesses Tobago's Spill-Affected Areas

Jamaica can double blue economy earnings — CaPRI

IFRC and Nature Conservancy equip Caribbean communities to combat climate crisis

The region's plastic challenge

USAID gives Caribbean marine life preservation US$5.8m boost

Tobago spill enters Grenada's marine space

Posted 3rd February, 2024

Planning Minister reappoints National Sea Turtle Task Force

Fish sanctuaries this year for St James and Hanover

Integrated Coastal Zone Management Committee appointed

Guadeloupe in murky waters: French islands hit by wastewater treatment scandal

Record sargassum seaweed bloom poses threat to Florida and Caribbean beaches

Dutch Caribbean islanders sue Netherlands over climate change

These Caribbean islands are building their first artificial reef against climate-fuelled hurricanes

CARICOM DEVELOPMENT FUND AND THE UNITED STATES PARTNER TO LAUNCH US$100 MILLION FUND FOR REGIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Posted 2nd December, 2023

History made at COP28 – Loss and Damage Fund adopted

BULLETIN: Suspected Harmful Algal Bloom around Tobago

Probe launched into mangrove destruction

Whales and dolphins in the Caribbean

Caribbean region to get only temporary reprieve from heat stress

Caribbean Climate Justice Alliance lays out priorities for COP28

Oceana welcomes legislation regarding petroleum operations in Belize

Dominica to create world's first sperm whale reserve

Ministry of Sustainability & Climate Resiliency - Cayman Islands

Posted: 28th October, 2023

Orcas spotted off Bayshore, Trinidad

Caribbean Airlines helps clean up regional coastlines

Women in Maritime Association Caribbean hailed as beacon for women and girls

IMA, and Cuban firm Inversiones GAMMA, sign MOU for Technical Corporation

Swim-through underwater sculptures in the Caribbean aim to draw attention to perilous state of the oceans

EIB launches technical assistance facility for Caribbean Sustainable Water Management and Clean Oceans programme

Coral Bleaching Alert for Tobago

College of Marine Science to lead $3.2-million grant to develop Sargassum forecasting system

Posted: 30th September, 2023

A ‘coral catastrophe’ discovered in the Exuma Cays Land and Sea Parks

EMA’s ICC 2023

Climate Analytics Caribbean launches loss and damage research project

International Workshop on Sustainable Blue Economies in Jamaica and the Caribbean

Cabinet approves deepwater awards to bpTT Shell

CAF, FAO, and CRFM partner on new project to strengthen Marine Biodiversity and Fisheries resilience in the Caribbean

Small Islands Take Ocean Protection Case to UN Court

Barbados hosts largest-ever meeting of FAO fishery body

Posted: 02nd September, 2023

Prickly babies: A Jamaican nursery aims to restore sea urchins felled by disease

4-Day Regional Scientific Conference of the CRFM opens

Barbados Dive Fest

Study Shows how to maximise mangroves

Bleaching alert for T&t’s coral reefs

MPA Connect Network are together again

Posted: 05th August, 2023

Cayman Moves Towards Plastics Ban

Sargassum influx expected to be mild in Eastern Caribbean

St. Vincent Hosts 22nd Eastern Caribbean Ministerial Fisheries meeting

Caribbean’s Marine Heat Wave Could Impact Economy—Report

Sahara’s Dust Will Impact the Caribbean Marine Ecosystem

UK – Belize signs agreement on marine science expertise

Caribbean coral reefs at high risk in 2023

18 Fisheries professionals equipped with new skills through the CRFM & GRÓ-FTP Fisheries Assessment and Data Modelling course

Posted: 09th July, 2023

The Region's maritime pathway to Decarbonization

What's this creature in the British Virgin Islands?

A Portal to the IMA's Marine Data Hub (MDH) – Get excited about data sharing!

Improving climate resiliency in Trinidad and Tobago calls for strategic action

Using Emerging Technologies to #BeatPlasticPollution Campaign

International conference in Panama on Caribbean sandy beaches poses challenges for the region

Beat Plastic Pollution JA Launch | Youngsters get stake in reduction of plastics pollution

The Hidden Parasite Wreaking Havoc on Caribbean Sea Urchins

Posted: 03rd June, 2023

Climate Change Policy Public Consultation Begins

Rum & Sargassum Seizes San Diego Scale Up Opportunity

SVGCF GSDT Held a Coral Restoration Knowledge Exchange Initiative

Sustainable Sargassum Management in Anguilla, British Virgin Islands and Montserrat

Dive Conservation Festival: Grenada Edition Returns for its 2nd year in the spice isle of the Caribbean

Embarking on the Digital Frontier: Dominica's Workshop on Digital Transformation for Tourism, Fisheries and Agriculture

Natural national treasures off Tobago

Posted: 29th April, 2023

Environmental advocates want moratorium on deep sea mining

CBF Teams Visits Discovery Bay Marine Lab

Protecting valuable coastal ecosystems in the Caribbean

Youth call for climate action at the UN

Marine parks nominated for UNESCO list

Biodiversity Fund Signs Agreement for CAD $8 Million Contribution to Caribbean Organisations for a Resilient Environment

In Bahamas, conch fishing is Way of life. But for how long?

Belize launches Strategy for Reef Resillence

Small island states need $2 trillion yearly to address climate change

Posted: 1st April, 2023

Sub-regional Sargassum Outlook Bulletin

The impact of climate change on our health

Caribbean forests as educational spaces

CARICOM to participate in Blue Justice Conference in 2023

New deep-sea tubeworm named after UWI Scientist Professor Judith Gobin

Save the Swamp

New Fisheries Food Safety Hub launched by IICA and CRFM under EU-funded project

Assessments highlight opportunities for Caribbean blue economies

Posted: 28th January, 2023

Caribbean youth rally to defend the deep ocean

New Chief Fisheries Officer Outlines Plans For The Industry

IDB supports Barbados to advance its marine spatial planning process

How Belize's Bright Biodiversity Is Inextricably Linked To Blue Carbon

Guyana gets help from UK to develop its marine economy

Marine Disaster: Ships May Be Fueling a Coral-Killing Epidemic

Guyana's first line of coastal defence battles new issues

Caribbean Countries To Benefit From German-Funded TNC Project

How are Surinamese fisheries impacted by climate change?

Posted: 22nd October, 2022

International fury at nation's calls for talks on lifting decades-old whaling ban

Coral Reefs in the Caribbean continue to be under bleaching conditions

Agriculture Ministry hosts Sea Moss Fiesta in honour of World Food Day

Posted: 1st October, 2022

Barbados Commits to Ambitious Ocean Conservation

Ocean Challenge Closing Ceremony

Dead Fish everywhere say Portmore residents

Coral Bleaching Alert – Level 2

35 fishers graduate from safety-at-sea training programme

Building Residence Through Long Term policy outcomes and leadership

Dominica signs milestone agreement towards partnership with Caribbean Biodiversity Fund

Posted: 9th September, 2022

Tracking Tico: Manatee rescued after frantic search

Divers report 'shocking' absence of sea eggs along Barbados' coasts

New Research shows Alarming Decline in Parrotfish Densities Around new Providence and Rose Island

First Sargassum Steering Committee installed as members met Wednesday

Posted: 03rd September, 2022

Climate risk assessment of southern and western coastal urban corridor of Barbados finds significant ecological and financial risk

Vessel Monitoring System for Saint Lucia Fishers at Sea Amid Spike in Distress Calls

Department of Nature and Environment: Detecting Stony Coral Tissue Loss Disease in Aruba

Getting youth involved in removing plastic litter from Caribbean beaches

Climate finance for SIDS is shockingly low: Why this needs to change

Strengthening National Oil Spill Contingency Plans in the Caribbean

Posted: 20th August, 2022

Caribbean Rising: Regional Heads of Government Meet in The Bahamas Aug 16-17 to discuss Caribbean position on Climate Change Mitigation

New U.N. High Seas Treaty Must Include Provisions to Help Caribbean Nations Participate—and Benefit

Caroni Swamp oil spill clean up continues

Caribbean people to make a call for urgent climate action

Sargassum, the brown tide that is invading the Caribbean

Posted: 13th August, 2022

Government to take action to protect Rio Cobre following chemical spill

Maritime Administration in the Caribbean takes centre-stage

Marine Environment Course Held for Students

Greenland shark spotted in the Caribbean

The Bahamas: Georgetown beach given ‘all clear’ after oil spill