

The Castelleves (+ other Ordans)

The Castelleves are all descendants of the god Mortau.

Interdimensional refugees from a war that ravaged their world until there was no life left, all they want to do is rebuild their lives. Some of the Castelleves are far removed from the generation that lived on Ordos. Other Ordans may be included here, but these are mostly Castelleves.

Henri

TRIGGER WARNING: Henri is a victim of child grooming/CSA. He's also murdered people, which has nothing to do with the aforementioned trauma, but a warning for violence too in that case.

Name: Henri-Zahira Priyat Castelleve

Aliases: Henri Montcroix, Zahira Montcroix, Rishi Khasturanav, Ayush Rose, Zahira Rose, Edward Rose, Edward Khasturanav, Keshav Chaalaak

Race/Species: Morstikan/Fueran (Afro-South Asian/Caucasian), rakshesamat/pseudo-demon (verse dependant), demigod

Age: Verse dependant

Sexuality: Identifies as straight, but is polysexual? Gynosexual? They are attracted to femininity primarily no matter the gender with the exception of being exclusively NOT attracted to binary men.

Gender: Hejreht (Morstika's third gender), He/They

Eye color: Pale blue

Hair: Black

Height: 6'6"

Weight: 187 lbs

Body type: Scrawny, fragile, underweight

Skin Color: Brown

Occupation: Verse dependant

Bio: Henri has always been a little terror, and showed sociopathic behavior starting in his pre-teen years, and was diagnosed with Conduct Disorder (showed aggressive behavior to his younger siblings as well as their pets, has vandalized his siblings rooms and on one occasion caught the house on fire out of boredom, stole jewelry from one of his aunts to destroy it including a wedding ring from her late husband only weeks after his death) by the personal psychiatrist the Castelleve family had. When he was around 11, he went through the family's old things and found an old grimoire that documented their family history, as well as ancient spells and the old experiments used to try and summon Mortau to the physical plane. This is where he learned his history, the fact the Castelleves were demigods (a conversation he wasn't yet old enough to have and, quite frankly, his parents were too terrified of him to tell him themselves anyway). While not explicitly stated, it also documented the history of Antisocial Personality Disorder in the Castelleve family.

Initially, he showed it to his cousin, under the guise of 'haha look at this, isn't this cool?' before the conversation gradually tilted towards a direction in which Henri suggested trying some of the cruel experiments. This is where his interest towards the supernatural and the occult started, as well as what got him interested in improving the experiments and starting his own. His cousin, Ayush, who was 15 at the time, responded in a way any normal person would and said 'wtf no way'. He brushed it off as his little cousin just being weird or joking around, until Henry brought it up again, then demanded Ayush hand over his position. When Ayush refused, Henry devised his plan to kill him.

When he was 13, he met Kiara Chaalaak, a nature spirit that resided in the woods outside of his house. He soon began to see her as a teacher, who knew the ins and outs of the Castelleve magic and family history. During his adolescence he seemed to 'clean up' his act so he could inherit his uncle's position instead of being passed over, but really he just got more sneaky about it. This, of course, coincided with a budding "relationship" with Kiara that began when he was 15 and ended after 2 years, when she had an illegitimate daughter with him, Krisha.

He broke things off and continuously sent her hush money, never wanting anyone to know of the event. Contact with her remains minimal, only ever going near her to see his daughter.

When he was in his early twenties, he commissioned the homunculus Irina Montcroix to be made, as the situation with his abuser turned him away from wanting to marry a 'normal' woman.

Just before this event, his youngest sibling Harimi swore up and down she was certain Henri killed Ayush. She ended up unable to walk only a few months after she made the accusations, which she rescinded not long after her accident.

After all, he couldn't have that following him around, right? When it came time to inherit his uncle's position as ambassador, he married Irina. An artificial human, which was made specifically to pass strong magic to their children. He ended up having five children with her, offering two up for experimentation and preforming a test on a third one himself.

His oldest legitimate daughter, Noemie, was raised for the purpose of a staged assassination to start a war with the opposing superpower, Creatorbis.

His oldest son, Beauregard, was born with the heart condition Henri's cousin had. When he died in infancy, Henri preformed a ritual to summon a Seed of God into his body, and he proceeded to raise that God as if he were actually Beauregard.

His middle child, Damian, he offered up for experimentation to test a parasitic fungus bioweapon.

His youngest two, a pair of twins, Sylvester and Amir, were used in a third experiment to turn one of them into an eldritch being separated from reality - Amir died in the process.

After Beauregard died once more of a heart attack in his early adult life without the God of Death awakening in his body, Henri deemed the experiment a failure. When he realized the end of the world was coming, and that there was no future for him or his wife, he killed Irina and then took his own life.

Now, in his main verse, he wanders as a demon. He no longer goes by the name 'Castelleve', instead taking his wife's maiden name, Montcroix.

ADDITIONAL NOTES: Henri had two step-fathers after his biological dad died of tuberculosis when he was 4 years old. He ended up killing the first one, the second one he just tolerated. It was also this second stepfather that got him interested in the supernatural world.

Mortau/Beau

Name: ~~Mortau~~ Beau Castelleve

Race/Species: ~~God of Death~~ Perfectly Normal Demigod

Gender: Male

Age: ageless, looks like he's around 28-ish

Sexuality: Panromantic, demisexual (not even out to himself tho)

Eye Color: Right eye blue, left eye is yellow (facing him, not from his perspective)

Hair: Dark brown

Height: 6'5"

Weight: 222 pounds

Body Type: Twig

Skin Color: Brown

Occupation: Mortician

Bio:

The God who founded the nation of Morstika and put the Castelleve family in power. After falling asleep, his beloved creations prayed to him to save the life of their son, Beau, and he agreed for a price - he would get the boy's body upon his death. In doing so, he brought the child back to life, placing his soul inside of him. As such, 'Beau Castelleve' became the living incarnation of the God of Death, with no memories of who he actually was until the time of his 'death' would come.

'Beau Castelleve' died of a heart attack just after his country broke out in war, but the deal was not fulfilled. While trying to unlock his full abilities, his memories, his life as Mortau, his resting place was bombed, resulting in an issue when he tried to merge.

He still believes he is Beau.

Damian

Name: Damian Vernell Castelleve

Race/Species: Adhoc Spore soldier, undead demigod

Gender: Male

Age: [REDACTED] Appears to be late twenties or early thirties

Sexuality: Gray-Aromantic, Bisexual

Eye Color: Blue, but turns green when the Adhoc Mold is activated

Hair: Black

Height: 6'8"

Weight: 297 pounds

Body Type: Muscular arms and legs, built like a strongman

Skin Color: Brown

Clothing/Aesthetic: Mori aesthetic and long cloaks

Occupation: Parttime Assassin, private investigator, professional mooch, grimy bastard

Bio: Damian Castelleve is the middle child of five of a prestigious family of necromancers. Being that he and his older brother Beau were the two oldest sons, they were both raised from a young age to be the 'perfect politicians' for the Morstikan government. Beau was technically the heir, but he had a heart condition, so Damian was born as a filler child. A 'just in case'. Both were deemed disposable at any time if they could not keep up with the either, fostering a bitter rivalry between the two.

Damian was always neglected in favor of Beau, always given the lesser treatment no matter how hard he tried, how perfect his grades were, how much better he was in some aspects. Beau was an angry child, with horrible anger issues and a selfish streak, so in addition to that Damian always had to keep his cool, keep calm and composed and stay quiet about any abuse he endured, whether it was emotional or physical. This has given him terrible communication issues as well as an aversion to touching others, fearing it would make him look just as predatory.

Eventually, the time came where tensions between his country and the rival superpower came to a head and he was taken in for the Adhoc Project. His lungs were fitted with a genetically modified version of the Cordyceps fungus designed to feed only off of humans. 'Kill as many enemy soldiers as you can or they will consume you instead,' was something drilled into his head. He was spliced with dog DNA to help the fungus settle in better. Ironical, considering he would later develop a phobia of dogs after one chewed part of his leg off. The entire thing had to be amputated and replaced with a plant limb.

He was fighting in this war for 12 years before he was killed in an explosion. Luckily... No, unluckily for him, the golem Dalet was there. Placing his battery into Damian's body, he used the dead man's magic to pull his limbs back together and resurrect him. By the time Damian came to back in his body, his entire world had died in a nuclear explosion.

Dalet revives him every time he dies by 'reversing his internal clock' in conjunction with Damian's natural necromatic abilities.

Abilities:

Spore Pollination: This allows him to use the mold spores stored in his body to take over another's, using his mold to eat them from the inside out as well as pilot their bodies until they're so rotten they can't be used.

Necromancy: An old family magic. He can use lesser known subsets of necromancy like hemomancy which allows him to manipulate blood and necrobotany which allows him to manipulate dead plant-based matter.

Root System: Using the plant-like growths on his left leg, he can substitute them for his other senses should he be unable to use his eyes/ears/etc. He can also use them to lift objects or attack people.

He can also use Dalet's teleportation, if Dalet lets him.

Sylvester

Name: Sylvester Alphonse Castelleve

Race/Species: former demigod, Cosmic Witch

Gender: Male

Age: Ageless, appearance depends on whoever perceives him

Sexuality: unsure

Eye Color: Blue

Hair: Black

Height: 5'11"

Weight: 162 pounds

Body Type: Lithe

Skin Color: Brown

Clothing/Aesthetic: Casual, modern streetwear. Can almost always be seen wearing his faux-fur coat at night or when it's cold.

Occupation: Pro-violinist

Bio: The younger brother of Damian, and the only other viable soldier for the Otherworld War. Taken by the MNBS, he was put through grueling experiments to be turned into a superweapon with the magical ability of a nuke... But it turned out the abilities he gained were more strategic than brute force, so he was kept on the sidelines, using them from a distance. His ability was also used to try and create other Cosmic Witches, however it mostly failed.

Before the war, he went through training to become a violinist and, no matter which world he ends up in, that is more often than not the occupation he chooses.

Abilities:

Severance of Bonds - Sylvester can use the strings of a person's bonds to distort them or completely sever them. This can range anywhere from someone's personal relationships to their bond with gravity. Or bonds between internal organs. Even the bond between life and death.

Timeline Perception - Sylvester, being an ascended being, knows about and can travel to other timelines and dimensions. Yes, this means it's canon whenever he breaks the fourth wall.

Divine Violin - using the bonded strings of another person, he can 'play' them like a violin and incapacitate them by messing with their senses.

Krisha

Krisha is the daughter of Henri Castelleve and Kiara Chaalaak. This makes her part human, part god and half nature spirit, specifically a kind of nature spirit of the Morstikan variety called Prakrothin.

Despite his issues with her mother, she was adored by her father for being a creature he had never seen. However, due to his trauma with her mother, who he very rarely talked to (and when he did, he was rather cold) he barely ever visited. She became eager for his visits, though, as she was heaped with praise every time. She was told it was a shame she couldn't succeed him in his position, as she was his most capable child.

She knew it was because she was illegitimate and because she was a woman. It was a fact of life that made her bitter, but she didn't blame her father for it. She had no idea how he treated her half siblings, knowing him as only a loving and doting father... never discovering that was just a persona he used to manipulate her into taking the position of director over his experiments. And in that position, all the blame for the issues with it.

She knew she was hurting her siblings by accepting this - stuck between greatly disappointing her father and or bringing harm to the brothers she had never met... Henri took priority and she accepted.

After the end of her world, she joined the god Vita, using one of their many guises, and worked under them as a private investigator for supernatural entities..

Gemini

Name: Mihir Castelleve? Nader Castelleve?

Nicknames (optional): Gemini

Age: ageless

Gender/Pronouns: male, he/him

Height: 6'3"

Appearance (picture?): Black curly hair and brown skin. He has bright yellow eyes that are typically covered by his bangs. He's fairly muscular, has pierced ears.

Backstory: He is the son of Henri's brother, Rishi, and ex fiancé, Eiowyn. Mihir and Nader were twins, and early on in their life, their mother had a mental breakdown and ended up in jail for attempted murder. As we all know, Henri pretty much messed with Eiowyn's head so much they drove her to the point of stress induced psychosis, leading to a mental break she never recovered from (mostly from repeated duress from being locked in a dungeon for attempted murder of Irina.)

Rishi divorced her, and this left their two children, a pair of twins, motherless. Later, she died, and it was revealed that her dungeon in specific was an oubliette. She was kept in harsh conditions, a combination of metal chains and water with rotting food in it eroded her skin and she eventually succumbed to a deadly infection in her cell.

This left them both with a grudge that carried over into the experiments.

See, one brother was tortured in similar conditions - one of the methods to creating Cosmic Witches was through curses... and he had been cursed by the loss of all his senses and ability to move. For three years he was kept on a life support machine as scientists poked and prodded and tested the other one to see the effects. Eventually the boy broke through the curse by moving a single finger... but the strain killed him and the living twin became the witch, gaining his brothers memories as well as a complication. In a cruel twist of irony, the living twin developed the ability to take away senses - and he calls it Oubliette.

He does not know which twin he is anymore.

During the war he defected to the other side due to his grudge. His ability was used as a way to take information from people, as there is nothing more terrifying than... well, nothing. Never ending nothing.

There was one point where Damian was captured and subjected to this torture and it only furthered his fear of the dark. Due to the untouchability of Sal and the deaths of the other siblings, he singled Damian out for being Henri's son.

The war ended with no definitive winner and the twin, who now goes by Gemini, has been wandering ever since. Like Damian, he has mostly been taking on odd jobs of the violent variety, but he tends to stick with one specific crime syndicate.

Sita

Name: Sita Dhanaav Khasturanav

Age: millions

Sexuality: lesbian

Gender: female

Species: Rakshesamat / Pseudo-Demon

Height: 5'6"

Weight: 132 lb.

Hair color: Black, coily

Skin color: Dark brown

Eye color: Light gray

Notable Characteristics:

Backstory:

A few hundred years before the current generation of Castelleves, Sita was alive. She was a human woman chosen by the at-the-time Sultan to join his harem. She did not want to be there, and her only comfort was the other women who she was trapped with.

After some time, the sultan grew to like her, specifically, and took Sita as his temporary wife. As a man known for killing his wives, this... scared her. They were not happily married, but were married long enough for her to have three children. After this, however, he grew... less patient with her. More aggressive.

So she chose to kill him. She took a knife and stabbed him through the chest. She seized the throne and, to eliminate any political adversaries, she had children of the other harem women killed.

After this, she crowned herself the first true matriarch of Morstika, but it didn't last long. After her oldest son was old enough to take the throne, one of the grieving mothers assassinated her.

She became a rakshesamat for the crime of killing children.

Sebastian

Wip

Child of Damian and cxnfectioniism's Ariana. Wants to be a fashion designer.

Ophelia

Name: Ophelia Jones

Age: 23

Sexuality: Straight

Gender: Female

Species: Mostly human. Distant distant distant demigod.

Height: 5'9"

Weight: 152 lb.

Hair color: Black

Eye color: Blue

Skin color: Light brown

Notable Characteristics: Insanely bad luck, dead animals dont stay dead around her

Backstory: Ever since she was young, Ophelia knew she was odd. Notably, that one time her dog got hit by a car on a friday and didn't die of his injuries until she left for school that monday. The pattern would continue of people and animals around her getting sick or injured but never being able to die until she wasn't around.

That is, until it evolved and she accidentally brought her guinea pig back to life when she was 13. She was never able to revive a person, however. Not that young.

From then on, her life was fairly average. She had boring high school years, and boring college years. One day, she decided she might as well spice things up a bit, and looked up fun things to do online, since she struggled making and keeping friends. Finding the ritual game creepypastas, she decided to play Hide and Seek Alone.

And, finally, accidentally brought back a person.

Around this time, she switched majors into something more morbid and began a paid internship with Beau at Moonlight Funeral Services.

Lucia

Name: Dr. Lucía Cruz

Nicknames (optional): Lucy

Age: Old As Fuck

Gender/Pronouns: female?, she/her

Height: 5'2

Appearance: She is a short albino woman who appears more frail than she actually is. Her eyes are a faded red color and she wears special glasses for her poor eyesight and to protect her eyes.

Backstory: One of the scientific leaders in the country of Santa Lámpago. After an embargo was placed on them from Morstika, they started trade with Orbis. Dr. Cruz's inventions helped greatly with productivity there, including optimizing the golems and the soul extraction process.

After some time, she got into contact with Beauregard Castelleve and started planning future deals with him under the table. Because of this, the two began to plan Henri's assassination - after all, he was the only one in the way of lifting the embargo. In doing so, that would also assist in the planned coup d'etat he was planning that would never come to fruition.

She was pleasantly surprised when Henri killed himself instead, though she had no strong feelings one way or the other when both Beau passed away beforehand.

She continued her work in her field, improving on already developed nuclear technologies. Some of these cores she produced were implemented in the HETH Model golems. Eventually, she got caught in a chernobyl style meltdown in one of her facilities at the age of 275. Somehow, she lived and continues to.

Extra (optional): it is unknown if the nuclear explosion caused her immortality or if prior work with nuclear technology and dark magics caused it.

She is a human mage and lived 3 times her own natural lifespan before the war.

She is 220 years older than Henri.

The explosion that "made her ascend" is what prompted the use of nuclear attacks in the war, with the leaders of Santa Lámpago mistaking it as an attack from another country. The fallout of the explosion was THAT bad.

Yvonne

Wip

Yvonne Seidel is the spirit of a young woman Henri resurrected to assist him in day to day matters, like a personal assistant.

Urmi

Name: Urmi

Age: trillions

Sexuality: Pansexual, Panromantic, Polyamorous

Gender: femme-aligned, sometimes takes male or androgynous forms (primarily she, but will accept they or he)

Species: Deity of Love, Water and Magic

Height: Constantly changing

Weight: Constantly changing

Hair color: Black

Eye color: Pink

Skin color: Dark blue

Notable Characteristics: They seem to be as fluid and ever-changing as their affinities.

Backstory: Urmi is an avatar of one of the Ordan Gods, Pyaarnee. After one of her priestesses, Aarushi, stole the gift of magic and gave it to the public, she cursed her and her family to never find love without treagedy.

That cursed came back to bite her, hundreds of thousands of years later, when it indirectly contributed to the apocalypse.

After fleeing Ordos, she got into a fight with another God from another world, who shattered her in to several pieces. One shard ended up the knife wielded by Lucas, but another one became the Sea Witch and Mother of All Mermaids, Urmi.

NPCs:

Irina

Harimi

Qarin

Rishi

Riaan

Bhediya

Eva Rose

The Adhoc Soldiers

Human experiments to create artificial vampires. It was later updated to make them bioweapons capable of destroying enemy facilities from the inside out. These are war veterans looking for peace.

Serena

Serena Newburry was a Witch from an alternate realm, born in a country called Morstika. After an apocalyptic event destroyed her world, she somehow found herself residing in one of the worlds created by the Alternate Dimension and Otherworld Project and took up residence there. Due to her magic which was seen as unnatural there, she was hailed as a Goddess and soon gained a cult following.

When she arrived at the world, accompanied by a few golems that she escaped with, her legs were crushed in the rubble of the crash and the golems were taken apart to use for her prosthetic legs, made by Onya Montcroix. Due to the dark magic she practiced, they later wound up warping into the image of goat legs. What was this dark magic? Well, she learned to devour human souls to extend her own life.

She is not the origin of magic in this world, but her descendants tend to be more powerful than most mages.

Onya

Onya Montcroix. To preface, the Montcroix family was from another country, Glinovsky, and migrated to Morstika a few centuries beforehand after creating a close relationship with the Castelleve family. Instead of having children, however, they created homunculi and passed down their memories to them.

Onya Montcroix holds 700 years worth of Montcroix memory in her. Despite that, she grew and was raised like any other child and was close to the Castelleve children, being 15 when the Adhoc project started. She was selected to go and thus a 'failsafe' replacement homunculus was made in her stead in case she died.

But she didn't. However, just like the only other woman in their unit, Serena, she went MIA, disappearing in the same incident that "killed" Serena. They both ended up in another world and Onya would go on to be a founding member of the Vasiliev family in Russia, though much like her partner she has for the most part been reduced to nothing more than a myth as far as public information goes.

Because of her body being made of clay, she ended up doing something that no normal human Adhoc experiment was capable of - ripping out the parasite and freeing herself of the need to consume blood.

Despite not being created in the same way as other golems, as she was one used to store information and had minimal reproductive qualities, she did have one sided feelings for the youngest Castelleve, Amir, and was devastated when his death marked the first of many.

Nowadays, in her modern life, she is a mysterious painter who has no public 'face', known as KUKIA.

Damian

See the 'Castelleve' section.

NPCs:

Wip

The Cosmic Witches

Being separate from reality, either naturally or artificially. They have no true self, no true body, and wander aimlessly, unable to die.

Claudia

The Cosmic Witch of Selfishness and Indulgence, Claudia Owens

A natural born cosmic witch, unlike Sylvester, the artificial Witch of Severed Bonds, and the other two who survived the Cosmic Experiments. She came from a noble witch family in one of the artificial worlds created by the AD/OP project and became a Cosmic Witch after dispelling her own curse with no outside help.

Just as Sylvester's ability lies within the severance of bonds, the Cosmic Witch of Selfishness and Indulgence's abilities lie solely within self gratification. Whatever she wants, she can summon, so long as its material (such as food, clothes, etc.) and with some limitations (she cannot summon herself a house, she can't summon herself a million dollars [though she can summon smaller amounts of money], etc.) That or it is a summon spirit, such as Amir Castelleve. Being that she is, currently, the only one who's affinity lies within human nature, her personality has been warped by it as well, resulting in an entirely selfish woman who takes and takes and takes, never giving.

That being said, she is not a cruel woman. Unlike Sylvester and the two other survivors, she is not a broken woman, either. Her selfishness lies in her arrogance and her ignorance to the plights of others, and because of her nature, this will never change.

She's kind of a nerd, and mostly uses her signature ability to stay holed up so she can play video games or something.

Sylvester

See the 'Castelleve' section.

Gemini

See the 'Castelleve' section.

Shang

Name: Huan Shang

Nicknames: None (yet)

Age: Ageless

Gender/Pronouns: He

Height: 5'5"

Backstory: So, the country of Mèngghuàng is named after the deity who presides over it, the immortal water bird Mèngghuàng. The family who came from her and resided over her country was the Shang family.

Mèngghuàng and Morstika didn't really get along the best, but they did have an allyship - and when it came to war, several strong members of the Shang family were sent to aid them, including a pair of twins, Feng and Huang, who were taken for the Cosmic Project. Huang died, leaving Feng as the surviving twin, having been forcefully turned into a Cosmic Witch through Astral experimentation, where the cord between a sleeping and astral form was severed.

After this experience, Feng changed his name to Huan to honor his sister, but cited 'being a new person now' when asked. He became more hands-on than Sylvester. Being a descendant of the goddess of dreams and constellations, many enemy soldiers were killed in their sleep by Huan.

Now, like every other Cosmic Witch, he wanders mostly aimlessly.

Extra: Typically carries a small hammer as a weapon, carries an interest in astrophysics and bonded fairly tightly with his fellow experiments / super soldiers. He was the first Cosmic Witch to turn, being 14 when his spiritual connection to reality was severed

Asher

Wip

A Cosmic Witch who was actually an Orban worker during the Ordos War.

NPCs:

Wip

The Rowboro Survivors

After the explosion of a 'nuclear power plant' in the city of Rowboro, it is revealed that the building was more than just a power plant. People began to mutate and murder, and only a handful of survivors were left.

Michael Hansen

Name: Michael Hansen

Nicknames: Mr. Hansen

Age: 33

Sexuality: Gay

Gender: Male

Species: Human

Height: 6'2"

Weight: 206 pounds

Hair color: Black

Skin color: Black

Notable characteristics: Covered in feather-like growths, has two goat-like horns and several smaller lizard-like horns. His skin is hard like a rock.

Background: Just four years before, Mr. Hansen was once a normal human. He was a teacher, teaching at Oakland High. Then one day... the incident occurred. Near the school, a nuclear power plant melted down... And a group of boys from the football team tried to investigate to see if it was safe or if they needed to evacuate.

They did not come back.

Another team of students went to retrieve them.

They also did not come back.

Then the teachers went to look for them.

The first group of students came back alone.

All hell broke loose.

The radiation did something to the minds of those boys, mutating their brains instead of their bodies, and they attacked the search parties that went to look for them. And tore them apart.

Michael Hansen was one of the teachers in the search party, having been exposed to the radiation, attacked and left for dead. He followed the boys back, witnessed the slaughter... and managed to save two girls.

The three fled the town, which eventually all either fell to the radiation, were killed by the boys or succumbed to either physical or mental mutation.

The government covered up the ordeal. The small town of Rowboro simply didn't exist and never had.

Over time, Michael's own mutations began to slowly transform him. The girls he saved, Jessica Wilson and Grace Nelson, were lucky it was not a swift mutation of the mind. instead, it was a slow transformation of the body. He grew horns, grew feathers, and fur. he was still human, but he looked like a monster.

Jessica Wilson

Name: Jessica Wilson

Nickname: n/a

Age: 22

Sexuality: Bisexual

Gender: Female

Species: Human

Height: 5'7"

Weight: 162 pounds

Hair color: Green (dyed), light brown (natural)

Skin color: Tan olive skin

Eye color: Hazel

Notable characteristics: Tattoo on her left shoulder.

Backstory: Jessica was an 18 year old senior when the incident at Oakland High. She was a cheerleader, dating the captain of the football team, Ryan. he was making good grades, had a wide friend group and was well liked. Until her boyfriend decided to investigate an explosion near the school with some friends of his. When he came back, he was a completely different person, attacking others in murderous glee and trying to turn people.

In the slaughter, Jessica rescued a younger sophomore, Grace. When Ryan tried to expose her to the nuclear breath he could now use, Jessica gave her a cup to cover her nose and mouth. The rest of the girl's body was burned, but she didn't inhale them. Together, with their only living teacher, Michael Hansen, the three escaped.

Jessica cut her hair off, dyed it, and covered some of the injuries she sustained with tattoos to try and disguise herself. Her now ex-boyfriend has been following her, Grace and Mr. Hansen across america for the past 4 years, attempting to turn or kill both the girls.

Grace Nelson

Name: Grace Nelson

Nickname: n/a

Sexuality: Straight

Gender: female

Age: 20

Species: Human

Height: 5'3"

Weight: 154 pounds

Eye color: Brown

Hair color: Pink (dyed), blonde 9natural)

Skin color: pale peach

Notable characteristics: Her entire back, the back side of her arms, the back side of her legs and the back of her neck are burned.

Backstory: At the time of the incident, she was a 16 year old sophomore. She wasn't really a popular girl, sticking with her moderately small friend group that she mostly spoke with in her art class. She was alone when the incident occurred, and considers herself to be thankful she didn't see her friends die.

She was trying to rescue another student when she was burned by one of the mutated individuals. She managed to survive, due to being helped by Jessica, but the student she was trying to help breathed in the burning nuclear wind and died. The two managed to escape with the help of Mr. Hansen, and the three have been running from the pack of mutated murder jocks that have been following them for four years.

Ryan Hill

Name: Ryan Hill

Nickname: n/a

Sexuality: Straight

Gender: Male

Age: 21

Species: ???

Height: 5'10"

Weight: 192 pounds

Eye color: Green

Hair color: Reddish orange

Skin color: pale, freckled

Notable characteristics: Fairly muscular, FAST, can apparently corrupt people with radioactive energy as well as burn them. Moves unnaturally, like an animal in a human body. Stronger than someone his size should reasonably be.

Backstory: He was 17, and a senior, when the incident occurred. He was fairly popular, successful in his sports, average grades. and dating his lovely girlfriend Jessica. Then, one day, an explosion goes off nearby. Without asking, he and a small team of his football buddies go off to investigate.

He isn't sure what happened at that explosion site. Was it the radiation? Had he been possessed by some sort of demon? He didn't know. And, as if he couldn't control his body, every violent impulse spilled out. And the worst was... after some time, he couldn't bring himself to care. He was not the only one this happened to - it happened to others on his team, other students that came to look for them. And the ones who didn't turn into whatever he was were ripped apart.

Two, however, got away from the massacre. His girlfriend, and a sophomore. And he's been following them for years, trying to turn them both into whatever monster he is now.

Samekh

Wip

A golem found by the scientists who worked at the Rowboro facility. Unlike other golems, she has no memories of Ordos. Her vessel makes up most of her personality.

The Golems

Human souls that were repurposed to power machines. Deprived of an afterlife, body and soul desecrated, these golems now bear humanoid bodies that are not their own. They carry out their duties regardless.

Dalet

Name: Dalet-EX, Dalet Dastelleve

Race/Species: Golem

Gender: Genderless (he/they)

Sexuality: Asexual, biromantic

Eye Color: Blue, with a bright yellow power symbol around the pupils

Clothing/Aesthetic: Modern, casual streetwear.

Occupation: Professional gambler

Bio: When he was born, Dalet-EX was originally a boy named Charles. Dealing with poverty at home, violent tension within his family and issues connecting with others on an intimate and emotional level, he began to run with a bad group. A small up and coming gang, where the initiation was... to steal a car.

At only 16, Charles had stolen his first car, a pattern that would be continued throughout his life. Not being all that lucky, however, at the age of 23 he finally crashed one into a building and died in the wreck, taking several other innocent people with him.

Given that he had commit a crime, his soul was extracted from his body, changed so that he could not remember his life, and placed into the body of a golem. A golem that was made to be able to traverse the multitude of artificial worlds that were created for extra resources, to collect those resources and preform maintenance on them.

Not long after this, a war broke out. His mechanical body was crushed in the rubble of a building, similar to how he had died so many times before. After a soldier, Damian, came upon him nearly dead, the two came to an agreement: having an extra soul would keep Damian's body stable and alive, while giving Dalet an organic body to use half of the time.

That was how these two met, and it is why they stay together.

Abilities:

Teleportation: This is a purely scientific, non-magical ability. It allows Dalet (and by extension Damian, if given permission) to jump through space. It could be as little as two feet or as much as across entire worlds.

He can also use all abilities Damian can, but chooses not to.

Heth

Heth is a soldier golem that was made for the Otherworld Nuclear War. Carrying an infectious and deadly bioweapon, S.I.N., she and her kind ended up destroying their world trying to protect their country. Given that she's already failed what she was made to do, she has given herself two main purposes:

Protect those she loves and destroy anything that prevents that.

After escaping off her Ordos with three other golems, they took the blueprints for the Alternate Dimension/Otherworld Project and created their own mini universe. With a heaven, a hell and three small normal earths. After the development of these worlds and the creatures in them, she exploded in a fit of jealousy over her proclaimed "brother" Teth and killed the other two golems, Mem and Aleph, that were there. As punishment, her own creations ripped her into pieces seven pieces and locked them in Hell.

This is where things begin to differ - due to Divinity she developed, each piece is able to possess a person, though she has rarely done this successfully. Each of these different forms can be interacted with, with different personalities and abilities. Because they're all 'Heth', their memories, goals and plans can all be synced. For now the only active piece is known as 'Fourth'.

Fourth is an author, publishing a series of books under the pseudonym I. M. Heth. He possesses a hatred of all things related to magic, built to be naturally at odds with the castelleves/Morstika, but aside from that he can feel very little emotion other than happiness, jealousy or anger and is physically incapable of not smiling. His only goal is self preservation and entertainment, he is Heth's logic core, where all of her memories are stored. As such, he also contains memories of every previous vessel Heth has ever had.

He is the Envy fragment, taking the form of a mask that changes appearance, personality and identity depending on the wearer. Current vessel is male, but he doesn't mind being referred to as 'she' or 'they' either.

Vav

Wip

The soul of a butcher golem, in a witch's body residing with Hei and helping him run his business.

Hei

Wip

he soul of a construction golem residing in a hotel owner. Using the vessel 'Terrowyn', he has run his business for five centuries.

Samekh

See Rowboro Survivors

All Seeing Investigations

An interdimensional private investigation firm led by a mysterious goddess and her familiars.

Angelisa

Wip

A shapeshifting Deity, Vita, and Mortau's counterpart. The moon to his sun. They usually take the form of a woman, and as 'Angelisa', she has several people in debted to her including Damian, Ishibashi, Mika and others.

Damian

See the Castelleve section

Mika

Fujimori Mika is not her original name. No, it was a name she gave to herself after she encountered a certain deity who saved her life.

The life of Miyashita Kiku was truly an unfortunate one. Born in homogeneous Japanese to a Japanese father and a white mother who died during childbirth, she was often ostracized by other children for her appearance and family background. Alongside that, her father blamed her for the death of her mother and, due to the stress of her life, the latent magic in the Miyashita family line surfaced.

These abilities, which drew animals and plantlife towards her, became her only solace.

At the age of 18, however, the verbal abuse from her father grew physical, and she ran away to the highest bridge she could. Taking off her shoes, about to jump.... that's when she met them.

A deity, her saving grace, who allowed her to cast her old life away and start anew. She became a servant for them, giving herself a new name and being granted powers to change her appearance so she can truly be herself. Her life as Miyashita Kiku truly ended that day, and her life as Fujimori Mika began.

Krisha

See the castelleve section

Solomon

Wip

A dragon egg that Angelisa bought from a supernatural poacher. He hatched under her care. He considers her his mother and works under her as a private investigator.

Dantes

Wip

One of Damian's black market contacts.

Officer Ishibashi

Wip

He's a cop who descended from the Minamoto clan, a particular sect that focused on demon slaying and dealing with other supernatural issues. Of course, over time that waned, and his family is now one of the only ones left who remembers that purpose. He decided to separate himself from all that stuff, pursuing a career in law enforcement.

Dokkaebi girls

A K-Pop group made entirely of mythological creatures, with contacts from elsewhere to help them blend in or get more business.

Eung-Ju

Kim Eung-Ju is a Kumiho that is over a thousand years old. In modern times, they have joined an Idol Group called the DKB Girls, or the Dokkaebi Girls, made completely of mythical creatures from Korea. Even their manager is a Korean myth, allowing them much more leeway than most idol groups would get.

They are a shapeshifter, and use their female form for their idol group. They use he and her for their respective male and female forms, however, if you're unsure of what to use, 'they' is fine.

They keep their fox bead on a necklace around their neck at all times and have a penchant for stealing shiny items.

They started the Dokkaebi Girls to help a gwisin who never achieved her dream.

DISCLAIMERS: Edited icons were made by Chai. I'm not here to fetishize my character's kpop status nor am I a kpop stan. I am completely unaffiliated with the kpop fandom. Please do not approach if you are looking to fetishize my character's race or status as an idol.

Taeyang

Wip

One of the backup dancers, is a gwisin. Because of the harsh environments of idol training, the various kinds of harrassment from management and other idols-in-training alike, as well as the strict diets and pressure to be beautiful... she killed herself. She could not move on, however, as she had not achieved her lifelong dream yet.

Atari

Takahashi Atari, a Kappa from Japan who's become indebted to Han Si-Woo after he refilled her sara, or her life-giving water. As such, she has decided to help him by procuring the various organs and meats from humans for his idol group while she also looks for shirikodamas.

She also extends her help by having her penpal, Amazake Hayami, do small advertisements for the DKB Girls on her blog.

A grouchy old woman who traffics organs for a living. She has an association with various different crime groups, spanning from groups in the Mumbai Underground to the Hisuitatsu-Ikka. She knows and affiliates with several 'free lancers' in the black market as well, including Damian and Dantes.

Hayami

Amazake Hayami is the name she chose for herself. Once a short, fat snake, she was able to attain a human form due to an old woman's kindness. She sports a brown and black kimono with an orange sash.

She's abandoned her forest home for the city! Why? To pursue a life of internet fame! She often attends sake tastings (as well as other kinds of alcohol) and reviews them on her blog. She also gives reviews to the bars and restaurants she goes to!

She makes squeaking noises when she's excited and snores loudly when she sleeps. She claims to have venom in her teeth, but she's not a biter so we'll never know.

She can jump several feet in the air and, if she wants, can also do a double jump in midair. Why would she do this? Who knows.

A very nervous woman, while she tries not to lie much, she definitely will if she thinks it can diffuse a situation, little things like 'no you don't look bad in that dress' (though it often comes back to bite her).

She is pen pals with the kappa Takahashi Atari, and does advertising for the DKB Girls as a bit of extra income.

NPCs:

Han Si-woo

White Feather Psychiatric Hospital

The supernatural hospital made to allow supernatural entities to get the mental help and advice they deserve and need. This is a place made solely to house nonhuman entities and this list includes both patients and staff.

Helena

wip

A witch who specializes in earth magic. She was taken by the small remnants of The Patrons of the Moon, the cult that worshipped Serena as a Moon Goddess, and given the 'Mor Luna', or Moon Pestilence - that is, she was cursed with lycanthropy. She was driving to visit her grandmother in the hospital when she crashed her car, and one of the members took her to test the curse on.

She grew up as the second oldest of five, and had the strongest magic. However, after the traumatic event, she gave up on taking over the family crest. She works in her father's magic store, volunteers part time at White Feather psychiatric Hospital and is roommates with Darva Jelen.

Hana

Hana Suzuki is the kodama of a ginkgo tree that was cultivated in the US after its parent tree was shipped over from Japan in the late 1700s/early 1800s. She lived peacefully as a guardian of that tree, keeping to herself and hiding when humans came by, before, in the last decade, it was cut down for land development. A curse befell the man who was responsible, the one who bought the land, and the energy the curse took continuously drained and drained her until she was nothing but a shell.

A concerned nature spirit brought her to White Feather Psychiatric Hospital after gifting her a sapling bonzai tree to attach herself to, feeling as though the controlled environment might help her adjust better to a new plant.

She met Damian in the hospital and the two became fast friends.

Elliot

Wip

A nephilim on borrowed time. Works as a medical doctor at White Feather Psychiatric Hospital.

Darva

Darva Jelen is your typical asocial shut in - but she's like that for a reason. The spirit of a woman who was tossed off of a boat, her tortured soul became a mermaid and gained the ability to read minds and enchant people with her voice.

After being determined to come onto land after centuries, she was quickly overwhelmed by the thoughts of others. Having a rather public breakdown, she was sent to a mental facility for supernatural entities - White Feather Psychiatric Hospital.

...After her release, she's still terrible at keeping the thoughts of others at bay and works from home. She's a singer on youtube and her channel is her main source of income. She doesn't leave her house often,

Being someone with a mind reading ability, the intensity of someone's thoughts can influence her and her actions. She is also easily overwhelmed when around more than one person at a time.

Namalee

Wip

Despite her demonic nature, she works as a psychiatrist for born supernaturals in White Feather Psychiatric Hospital.

Afraa

Wip

The group therapist at White Feather Psychiatric Hospital and a djinn loosely based off islamic djinns. I cannot stress this enough, she is NOT a wish granting genie.

Gabriel

Wip

A nurse and deskworker at White Feather Psychiatric Hospital. An empathic Caladrius bird.

Theodore

Wip

Gabriel's adopted son, and a novice antkeeper.

The Coven

A loosely connected group of various witch families. They share their practice with each other, despite how unsavory many seem to be, and are all tied through their magic. Many seem to be some sort of wealthy elite and work toward peace between humans and nonhumans. However, many use magic for their own personal gain...

Anastasiya

Anastasiya is the head of the witch family, the Vasilievs. Her specialty is Ice Magic and Homunculus Making.

She is in her early thirties and is a bisexual woman.

She is also single, with no children, but she doesn't seem to be looking either.

Mystery surrounds Anastasiya, as her father, Valentin, 'adopted' her merely three years before he died. And yet, she carried the family magic he left behind exceedingly well. Given the specialty of the Vasiliev family, she is suspected by other witch families of being a homunculus.

She is a descendant of Onya Montcroix.

Nocturne

Nocturne Neophyte, at the ripe age of 28, is an oddity among the other witch families. The 'Neophyte Family' simply does not exist - she is an enigma and it's not sure if that's her real name or if she's even a real person.

Obsessed with the moon and the night, one would think she was a Witch of Shadow but no - her magic relies on willpower alone, even if she insists she draws it from the moon.

Her goals as a Witch are as uncertain as her origin or her true family.

Helena

See White Feather section

Adelaide

Name: Adelaide Miriam Fortune

Nicknames: Ada

Age: 28

Gender/Pronouns: Female, she/her

Height: 5'8"

Faceclaim: Luvia Edelfelt

Backstory: Adelaide is the older sister of Juniper. Despite being the oldest, she was passed over for her younger sister as heir to the family head for multiple reasons. One of which being because of her magical potential, secondly because she refused to continue the family "naturally" - because she's a lesbian.

Being passed over caused some tension with her family, and while she is not estranged from her family, it's getting close.

She specializes in light magic, as does most of her family. However, because of her weak magical potential, she utilizes tools to help her.

Juniper

Juniper Fortune, prized heir of the Fortune family of light witches. Though their relation to Serena Newburry has been long forgotten, their status as demigods and nobles remain.

A prodigy in light magic, she has the ability to steal and return light, storing the magic in her sunglasses. Using the magic, she can do things as little as dim the lights in her room to things as big as blocking out the sun or illuminating dark alleys at night to be as bright as noon.

She is the youngest of the witch family heads, having become the face of the Fortune family at the tender young age of 19.

Gideon

Name: Gideon Stout

Age: Was alive in the early 1300s

Sexuality: Bisexual, strong preference towards women

Gender: male

Species: Witch

Height: 5'10"

Weight: 162 lb.

Hair color: White

Eye color: green

Skin color: Tan olive

Notable Characteristics: Strong cockney accent

Backstory: When he was young, he was intensely aware of his own mortality. When he began to age, it bothered him greatly. He wished to remain youthful and sought out magic to ensure that. He went to a magic school and learned from the grimoires of many great warlocks... but still no solutions to his ugly aging problem.

Until, eventually, he came across a peculiar masked figure who bestowed upon him the knowledge of Body Swapping.

After the masked figure left the planet, Gideon took the technique and claimed he created it. To demonstrate, he put his familiar, a cat named Salem, into a human body.

This is how Gideon's managed to stay young for so long without giving up his soul to become a monster like his old classmate Roul.

Salem

Name: Salem

Age: About 20 years younger than Gideon

Sexuality: Gay

Gender: Male

Species: Magical familiar in the body of a human

Height: 6'2"

Weight: 262 lb.

Hair color: Brown

Eye color: Brown

Skin color: Slightly tanned

Notable Characteristics: none

Backstory: Gideon's familiar. Swaps bodies every century or so. Helps Gideon find more bodies to swap into. Not much more to say than that.

Enoch

Name: Roul "Enoch" Painter

Race/Species: former human, Vampire

Gender: Male

Age: Approximately 700, appearance wise early twenties.

Sexuality: Straight

Eye Color: Red, formerly brown. With his glamour, they look purple.

Hair: Black

Height: 5'8"

Weight: 157 pounds

Body Type: Muscular

Skin Color: Extremely pale, to the point he looks sick.

Clothing/Aesthetic: Can often be found in dark, more conservative clothing styles. If he's not in that, he's wearing a priest's uniform.

Occupation: Wandering bishop

Bio: Roul Painter was the sole child of a commoner family in France in the 1300s. Finding an interest in the dark arts, he used the growing fear of the Black Plague to pin his parents for Witchcraft and accusing them of summoning the plague themselves. A few months later, he would leave to England, citing fear of the plague and tragic memories as his excuse to leave. In truth, however, he had come across a manuscript speaking of an old pagan god, Kestis, and he had left to study that as well as learn magic.

It didn't take long for him to find a good tutor, studying under an old immortal bandrui who went by Clara. Her real identity was Henwen, mother of the beast Cath Palug, who had been tricked by the cruel God. Under her guidance, he learned the magic of barriers and gift giving.

She taught him various types of magic in the few years they were together, but it was cut short when Roul was hit with a fair bit of karma - he caught the plague. Quickly seeking out a cure, he found one in a man named Maxwell. This man... was a vampire.

A vampire that Roul begged to turn him, turning his body as monstrous as his soul. Roul Painter was no longer Roul Painter... he was Enoch now. Posing as a Priest, he began to travel to collect kills to sustain himself, encountering Henwen once more several centuries into the future. When he did so, she revealed to him the truth behind the Blessings of Vampirism - that it was a test posed by the god Kestis, whoever was as monstrous as him would and drank the same amount of blood that he'd spilled would become a servant by his side.

Enoch intends to take this further and use the Blessing to kill and replace him.

Abilities:

Shapeshifting: Enoch can take the form of a bat or a large wolf. He prefers the wolf form, as he finds it to be more useful. This is a vampiric ability and cannot be used in daylight.

Mind invasion: Essentially, should he want to target someone, he can forcefully project his thoughts and will into them. This is a vampiric ability and cannot be used in daylight. If he already has hold over someone, it's weaker during the day.

Enhanced senses and physical prowess: He has an enhanced sense of smell and hearing, as well as the fact he's so fast he can clear several yards in a millisecond and strong enough to throw a tree. This is a vampiric ability, but the daylight has no effect on it.

Gift-giving: An ability he learned from the Bandrui Henwen. He can gift people with minor buffs (such as luck, enhanced strength, etc.) or small abilities like the ability to use fireballs or turn water droplets into ice.

Barriers: An ability he learned from the Bandrui Henwen. He can summon a solid, translucent plate of pure magic to protect himself... or crush others. He has learned to weaponize a purely defensive ability.

Tracking: A minor spell he learned from the Bandrui Henwen. It's a simple tracking spell he attaches to his gifts.

Beatrix

Beatrix von Brandt, age 31.

A typical head of a witch family, the von Brandt's specialty is fire magic.

Training from a young age to be a powerful witch, she took her position as the family head with pride. While she trained, she imagined opening up a school for young witches from less to-do families to attend for cheap.

Tall, wealthy and arrogant, yet kindhearted, she's a bit of a philanthropist. She has more money than she can possibly spend, so why would she not give it away?

She lives in Manhattan and gives a majority of her funds away to charity. Despite that, she still has plenty to live a lavish life and travel on occasion.

Sylvester

See Castelleve section

Alice

Wip

Dantes' adopted sister, poacher of supernatural entities.

Dantes

See All Seeing investigations section

Penny

Just a ten year old who can summon fictional characters. She's the descendant of Heth. Not much else to say on the topic.

Augusta

Wip

The Witch that had Helena kidnapped. Obsessed with a preserved eyeball. Wants to start a cult. Intimate with Nocturne..?

Vav

See Golems

Baphomet

Wip

A demon that merged with his summoner. Contracted with Jezebel.

Patrons of the Moon

This is a particular pair of roommates trying to kill an ancient war god using the ancient cult Patrons of the Moon. Meanwhile, Helena is hunting down her kidnapper... little does she know, the culprit is closer than she thinks.

Touma

Wip

A salaryman turned vampire by Enoch. Looking for a cure for vampirism.

Augusta

See Coven

Nocturne

See Coven

Ambrus

Name: Ambrus

Age: old

Gender/Pronouns: Male, he/him

Height: 6'4"

Backstory: He was a man from Arcadia, who worshipped in the cult of Lycaean Zeus. It was said that to consume human entrails meant one was to be turned into a wolf - and one such practice of worship was to do exactly that. To feast on the entrails of a human sacrifice.

This is how Ambrus became cursed with Lycanthropy. A part of his curse was to forget the sacrificial ritual, as the gruesome acts of the cult disgusted the gods (which is why those in it often suffered the same fate as King Lycaon) but Ambrus continued his worship in his own brutal ways.

His most well known sacrifices were the five murders in England between August and November of 1888, where he became known as Jack the Ripper. He was hired by a man to commit these murders and used them as offerings to his deity.

Many in the cult of Lycaean Zeus have died - whether due to old age from never turning, to being hunted by supernatural hunters or even other supes... to diseases.. he is one of the very few remaining members. One of the few original werewolves left.

Whenever Enoch and him are in the same area, he tends to give Ambrus his drained corpses to dispose of.

Enoch

See Coven

Kenichi

Wip

A man who Henri stole the soul out of, but left alive. An Ittan-Momen has filled in the cavity where his soul should be.

Henri

See Castelleves

Maxwell

Wip

The vampire who turned Enoch, and is now hunting him down.

Astrid

Wip

Another baby vampire that Enoch turned, has pyrokinesis.

Yvonne

See Castelleves

The Fae

Disclaimer: While some muses are based off actual myths, some are of my own creation. Some of these were made for a comic, not RP, but I will try my best with them. These include seelie, unseelie and neutral fae.

Lundy

Wip

A traveliong kelpie.

King Irusan

Wip

King of the cait sidhe. This character is over 400 years old, but is childlike in mannerisms and body. No NSFW.

Foxglove

Wip

An assassin who specializes in poison. Also an elf! Knows Atari, Dantes and Damian.

NPCs:

Henwen

Hisuitatsu-Ikka

A yakuza clan with ties to the Pink Cherries girl gang, the media and the Tokyo Detention Centre.

Himeko Yamazaki

Riyeko Yamazaki

The Costanzo Crime Family

A sicilian mafia group.

Antonio Gatti

Foxglove

See The Fae

Vasiliev OPG

A supernatural bratva group led by the witch Anastasiya

Anastasiya

See the Coven

Dantes

See the Coven

Dmitri Agapov

Wip

He is a member of the Vasiliev OPG, given he is part of the family that created Anastasiya's homunculus body he is considered a 'cousin'. He's a Brigadier in rank, meaning he has a crew of people who do his dirty work for him.

He dated Helena for a while, cheated on her.

Paris Green

Wip

- Works for the Vasiliev bratva group
- claims to be former KGB. this has not been verified and is probably a lie
- He is human, but is very aware of the supernatural given the Vasiliev OPG is full of them.
- Because of this, he has equipped himself to be a monster hunter
- Damian's cocaine dealer
- In his late 50s, but look very young due to exposure to magic

Mariana Cross

Wip, icons by Dresspheres

A homunculus built by Dmitri for the purpose of killing quickly.

Wonderland

Also known as the Realm Opposite Reality. Things aren't quite what they seem. Many are trapped here, but some come and go from this realm to the other as they so please.

Alice Liddell, the Queen of Hearts

The realm she rules can only be accessed inside of the dream - or so she assumes.

Alice Liddell is the first victim of the Liddell disease. A disease in which one falls asleep, but never awakens, and despite this remaining alive with no food, water or outside help.

This is because she exists in a different world, a place called the Looking Glass Realm.

She entered when she was at the young age of 15 - that was years ago and she has since accepted her role as the crowned queen of the world of nonsense. One would think that she would bring some sort of stability, but no, she's succumb to the strange nature of Wonderland. She is no longer a human anymore.

Jackson C. Heshire, the Cheshire Cat

Jackson C. Heshire is one of Alice's oldest associates, closest friend and advisor.

A trickster of a man, he has mastered the art of full and partial invisibility. He is the resident Cheshire Cat, laidback and silly, and full of advice that doesn't quite make sense at first.

Justin Time, the White Rabbit

Justin Time, the White Rabbit adorned with watches and clocks from all sorts of visitors. All have been set to a different time, and yet the hands never move.

He's always chasing something, always running late to an important date that never comes, and yet somehow is always right on time.

More often than not, he greets the newcomers to Wonderland, confiscating their watches to add to his collection.

Stragglers

Miguel

Name: Miguel Costa

Age: 25

Birthday: October 13, 1995

Sexuality: Straight

Ethnicity: Afro-latino

His grandfather was a bota, making him $\frac{1}{4}$ bota and $\frac{3}{4}$ human. He grew up in brazil, in a smaller town that was superstitious. He wasn't bullied, per say, at least not directly - because to hurt a bota is to bring you bad luck. He was, however, blatantly ignored. Ostracized. His mother didn't blame him, she knew it wasn't his fault or her's but her father's.

What Miguel wants is to bring her out of the country, or at the very least to move somewhere bigger and less superstitious where no one knows them and they can live in peace.

Because of his nature as a bota, he is extroverted, but due to his isolation has adapted to a more introverted personality. He loves people, he loves to talk and party and dance with people, often frequenting parties, but when it comes to actually speaking to people, he finds it difficult. He finds it much easier to socialize with people who don't know him. He refuses to look people in the eyes, because he knows that gazing into them will give people horrific nightmares. His favorite color is pink and his favorite animal is manatees.

Icons by Mukhangicons.

Roy

Name: Roy

Age: Unknown

Race: Liderc

Appearance: Roy, being a creature that molds itself to whatever his prey desires, has four main forms.

His actual body looks like this:

Aside from this, he uses the FCs of Merlin, from Fate(Companion body), Edmond Dantes(guardian body), also from Fate, and Jude Mathis, from Tales of Xillia (2)(family body).

Let it be known that these bodies aren't exclusive to these roles, they're just what he prefers to use for each one. These are also not the only humanoid forms he can take, either. He can also take the form of a small floating light or chicken and has been known to use the horse legs of his original body with these other forms at times. He hardly ever uses his actual body.

Personality: Roy, being a creature made to mold to the desires of whatever prey he hunts, is a bit of a yes man. Timid-seeming and not argumentative in the slightest. While his main goal is to collect souls as nourishment, he's not a malicious being. Demonic, yes, but not malicious. His aim is to fulfill whatever role he's been given - whether its a companion, a lover, a guardian, a brother, son... and to fulfill that role to the best he's capable of. The fact that he has to take people's souls and end their lives to sustain his own is absolutely heartbreaking for him - he loves humans and being around them. That's why he gets such happiness in fulfilling which roles he can until the time comes to eat.

Background: Roy is a being called a Liderc, a black chicken's egg hatched in either a pile of horse manure or under a human's armpit. Given his horse-like features, you can guess which one Roy was a result of. He was hatched on a nice old woman's farm and was given his first 'role' to fulfill - her grandson, Roy, had recently passed and she wanted to see him once again before she died.

He kept the name after he devoured her soul. She raised him into an honest, albeit shy, creature in the little time she had left.

After that, he traveled through cities, countries, entire realms looking for roles to fulfill to feed himself.

Abilities/magic:

Shapeshifting: He can take the form of anything he's seen or otherwise been in contact with, as well as a few base forms (his body, the chicken, and the light). He cannot, however, copy the body of a Divine being, other Demonic being or anything that's too far from human (like certain blood mages).

Blessings of Wealth: Liders are creatures known to bestow wealth upon their targets in exchange for their souls - Roy is no exception to this. If he has his eye on you, riches will come your way.

Germaine

Wip

Enoch's ex wife, also a vampire. A staunch Catholic who lived during the tense times in France between Catholic and Protestant Christians.

Suki

Name: Yasu Kutsuki

Nickname: Suki

Age: 19

Gender/Pronouns: Female, she/her

Height: 5'2"

Backstory: I don't have much for backstory yet - however, she is a highschool drop out, who joined a girl gang when she was 15. Vandalism, petty theft and drug dealing. They deal meth for a yakuza group, The Hisuitatsu-Ikka (the jade dragon family), but aside from that, act independently. The gang refers to itself as the Pink Cherries, and works to adopt the old sukeban aesthetics and lifestyle.

Suki joined after having to hide from the police when she assaulted a bully of hers, then later dropped out of highschool when she and other members of the Pink Cherries threw acid on said bully.

Dakota

Name: Dakota Parrish

Nicknames: Dakota Frye

Age: 26

Gender/Pronouns: nonbinary, they/them

Height: 5'9"

Backstory: [Trigger warning for abuse.] Ever since Dakota was a young child, they loved to write. After the death of their father, writing is what helped them grieve. And it helped them with what was yet to come.

Their mother was a shrewd, impatient, and cruel woman. Stingy with her money, as well. After Dakota's father died when they were eight, their mother begrudgingly took up a job. Unable - or, perhaps, unwilling - to hire a babysitter, Dakota was often locked in the cold, dark basement with no food. And when their mother was home, they were equally neglected.

School came and went and people noticed their thin, gangly appearance. But no one did anything, and neither did they.

Until, one day, someone passed by one of the grates that led into the basement, and heard them shouting. A cry for help, a cry for freedom. CPS was called, and Dakota, at the age of twelve, was taken to live with their uncle.

After that, they struggled through school, and eventually dropped out in tenth grade. It's been difficult for them, trying to get on their feet with no diploma as well as writing a book, but one day they'll be successful... right?

Lucas

Wip

A serial killer who primarily targets women. Also works at a flower shop owned by his aunt, which is where he scouts for his targets.

Jezebel

Wip

A trafficking victim who contracted with Baphomet and had him merge her with the Whore of Babylon. Is running a minor crime syndicate in Brasil.

Teddy

Name: Formerly Christopher, currently Teddy

Age: 26

Sexuality: straight

Gender: male

Species: Gūl

Height: 5'8"

Weight: 90 lb.

Hair color: Orange

Skin color: Light brown

Eye color: Pink

Notable characteristics: Abnormally light because he's full of cotton. His 'hands' are like the hands of a stuffed animal, because he is essentially the mix between a stuffed animal and a human. Teddy bear ears.

Backstory: (tw suicide) Christopher used to have it all. A loving family, a scholarship, straight As and a member of the football team. In college, however... he got burnt out. He changed majors several times. Debts and loans piled up, and the stress from college took its toll. He felt like he was disappointing everyone and the bright life he had before seemed out of reach.

So.. he ended his life. Unfortunately, he was unable to pass on, having regretted taking the action he did. Before he knew it, he was pulled into a stuffed animal and brought back to life as ophelia's "Teddy".