

Reading the World Tasks and Resources
for April 8.

Log on:

User name: ins210

Password: alverno15

Go to blogger.com

User name: alvernoreadingtheworld2

Password: girlsacademy2016

Open my blog for today's tasks and resources.

Check out responses to your movie review
blog from last month.

If you want to make your own gifs, go to Make a Gif. Follow the instructions via the Youtube Option.

If you want to make another survey, go to Poll-Maker. Remember to copy the HTML code. When you are in a new post, switch “compose” to HTML, paste.

If you want to make Glitter Text, go to Glitter Text. You capture the code and paste it in a blog just like the polls.

If you want to add animated gifs, go to Amazing Animations. You right-click the ones you want, and save as a gif. These are then inserted into a blogpost like a picture.

Review and Reading Living Out

Review Act 1; Read Act 2, Scenes 1-3

Discussion of INTERPRETATION

Timed Writing: Analyzing conflict

Write a well-developed short essay about what you think is the central conflict in Living Out. Some questions to consider are: What evidence is there of the conflict? Who is involved with that conflict? What do you learn about the characters from how they respond to the conflict? How realistic or relevant is the conflict? Can you personally relate to one or more of the characters and their perspective in the conflict?