

Minnesota Poor People's Campaign: A National Call for Moral Revival

On May 14th, the Minnesota Poor People's Campaign will join poor people, activists, clergy and moral leaders in more than 30 states and Washington, DC for 40 days of moral action to prick the conscious of our nation's leaders to address systemic racism, poverty, ecological devastation, and the war economy. We seek nothing less than to reclaim the moral narrative in this nation by building what Dr. King called a "new and unsettling force" committed to collective action to transform the political, economic, and moral structures of our nation.

Each week, we will gather at the State Capitol to call attention to and demand action to address the issues that impact the lives of so many people of every race, sex, age, religion, or sexual orientation:
