

100+ words a day for 100 days

go through the words in order, one a day. The +5 are replacements if you feel like you want to not write about a word, or for if you want to continue your thread of words a day after the 100.

Email me here if you start to do it and want your works linked here. If you're on ao3 and interested in potentially being in a collection let me know, and we could make a big shared series or collection with all of ours for this.
