

GERMAN MINISTRY OF INTERIOR INTERIOR MINISTER REL.

April.08.1941
Berlin, Innenministerium

Access Policy of the Ministry of Interior

SECTION 1.

The Ministry of the Interior, as the cornerstone of internal governance and security within the Empire, requires a robust and clearly defined access policy to safeguard its facilities, protect sensitive operations, and ensure the seamless execution of its mandates. This policy establishes a tiered framework to regulate entry into Ministry premises, balancing operational efficiency with stringent security protocols, in recognition of the Ministry's critical role during both wartime and peacetime.

- Command Staff of the Interior have unrestricted access.
- Tier-1 grants unrestricted access to the Interior aside from the National Security Bureau wing to individuals explicitly listed under this classification.
- Tier-2 provides limited access, contingent upon the approval of the Interior Minister or Command Staff and successful security screening conducted by the Gendarmerie.
- Tier-3 prohibits access entirely; individuals classified under this tier are barred from entering any Ministry facility.
- Tier-X designates access to an ultra-restricted area—specifically the National Security Bureau wing.

SECTION 2.

Command Staff of the Interior Ministry:

- Have full access to the Building
- The Command Staff are: Leading State Secretary of the Ministry of Interior, Chief of the Land Police, Chief of the Security Courts, Chief of the Gendarmerie and the Director of the National Security Bureau. They may remove anybody from the building as they wish unless otherwise specified.

Temporary Tier 1 Access may be granted by the following:

- The Interior Minister
- The Leading State Secretary
- The Deputy Chief of the German Police
- Interior Command Staff

Those granted Tier X Access to the Building:

- The National Security Bureau
- The Interior Minister
- Deputy Chief of Police
