Your answer was correct, congratulations! You have bottled it, the answer was B (shin pads)

Shin pads are vital to our play, they will either boost your performance or keep your explosive dribbling restrained.

Shin pads give every player a chance to express individuality through customization whilst presenting their team's class.

In 2014 Lewandowski's shin pad was broken in an almost fatal tackle.

From that day on Lewandowski made the wise decision to never wear a bad shin pad again.

He chose a shin pad that would offer strong protection whilst maintaining a design of art.
