

Hi Hayley!

Have you considered creating a more attractive and persuasive sales page for your "Momentum" course?

A more persuasive sales page would help you catch the attention of potential customers and drive them to buy your course, so you wouldn't have to worry about getting more customers anymore.

Of course, if you don't want to get your course in front of more people, I understand; if that's the case, I won't bother you any further.

But if you are one of the few excited and open about getting more clients within two weeks, from the comfort of your home, get back to me so we can get to work.

Are you open to jumping on a call to discuss this idea further?

Best regards,
Levi Nagy