

How to Survive Xmas With Your Relatives - with the new app Get Real!

Co-creators of game-changing new Get Real app available for interview Dec 12 - Dec 29

Get Real is a powerful, fun new app to replace small-talk with surprisingly rapid intimacy. These are NOT your everyday questions:

- Small-talk is boring and over-used by Australians. Get Real bypasses all that creating meaningful connections immediately.
- Family gatherings over Christmas can be a little strained talking about the weather. Get Real handles all that by creating a game of connecting.
- Instead of asking “Where are you from?”, ask “What don’t you want me to know about you?”, or “Have I ever disappointed you?”.
- Used by singles, couples, families, friends and co-workers for face to face live interaction.
- The Get Real co-creators are in Sydney for 2 weeks (Dec 12 - 29) to raise debate around small-talk vs deep connection.
- David Wood is an experienced radio and tv guest expert, including CNN Headline News and First Business National in the US, and Channel 9 and SBS in Australia: See videos of media appearances.
- The app was sparked 18 months ago when David was bored and tired in a conversation, and one Real question caused a profound shift in his connection with a stranger.

- New social event mode: Mingle Ninja! Artificial intelligence now auto-matches minglers at events, to overcome our natural shyness to approach new people.
- Available free on iOS and Android: <http://www.getreal.life> (Promo upgrade code to access all questions available for journalists on request)

He moved to the slower pace of Bali and developed Get Real to open his own heart and the hearts of others. (Full Bio).

A software engineer for over 15 years, Sarah Gajek has spent the last 7 years travelling the world exploring how people truly connect.
