Aunt Nada Tell me, do you ever cook back home?

Hadeel When I'm at home, I sometimes help a bit. But I'm often out because I do various sports and other activities after school. So I don't know very much about cooking. I should though.

Aunt Nada Yes, if you learn to cook, it'll be very useful later, when you grow up.

Hadeel You're right. I need to learn. Nidal knows much more than me! And if I don't learn, it won't be easy to live away from home in future.

Aunt Nada I'll teach you some simple dishes if you like Hadeel Great!

Aunt Nada Let's make lunch for our neighbours, the Masri family. Mrs Masri is sick.

Hadeel Are they the family opposite?

Aunt Nada Yes. How did you guess?

Hadeel The daughter always looks busy. She goes shopping every day, and I often think maybe her mum isn't well.

Aunt Nada You're right. Her father is in hospital, too, so poor young Sameera is looking after them and the four little ones, too. She's only fourteen, like you
