Subject Line: Academic Job Search Series in STEM Disciplines Starts Monday, Aug 5th (in-person)

Whether you're wading or plunging into the market, here's a chance to learn a little more about what you're getting into. Monday, August 5th is the start of a three-part series on the Academic Job Search in the Sciences & Engineering offered by Berkeley Career Engagement in collaboration with QB3.

The series will be in-person and is conducted by Andrew Green, a PhD counselor with over 25 years of experience advising Berkeley grad students, PhDs and Postdocs, as well as, six years as a faculty member serving on multiple search committees.

A separate series on the Academic Job Search in the Social Sciences & Humanities will begin later in the semester.

Monday afternoons from 4:00-5:15 PM In-person
Aug 5	Understanding the Hiring Process from the Perspective of Search Committees, Finding + Decoding Job Announcements Stanley Hall 177
Aug 12	Preparing your Written Application Materials: CV, Cover Letter, Teaching and Research Statements, and more Stanley Hall 177
Aug 19	Going Live: Zoom/Screening Interviews, On Campus Interviews & Job Talks Stanley Hall 621

These workshops are free and are designed for current grad students and postdocs.

Please register via Handshake and click on the "Events" link (scroll or search by keyword). Once you find it, click on "View Event" and select "Register" at the top right. Registration is not required to attend these events.