

TC (Talent Catalog) Chats

A "TC Chat" is a TC version of a Slack channel where participants in the channel can post, upload files and automate information updates.

The purpose of TC Chats is to facilitate communication between parties involved in a job:

- Source partner
- Destination partner
- Candidates
- Other "fourth parties" such as TBB Global, UNHCR, IOM, Pathway Club etc

TC chats will replicate what we currently do in Slack with job related channels (eg #emp-au-iress), job/candidate related channels (eg #emp-au-iress-atheer), and job/candidate cohort channels (eg #emp-uk-mersey-cohort3). Slack channels are replaced with "TC chats" associated with the appropriate job and candidate opportunities.

Why is it needed

There are partners without access to Slack. That is a challenge that we are already facing, with mixed success. This functionality is also essential for employer and recruiter direct access, which is currently under development. That is what has been the immediate driver for delivering this new functionality now.

Advantages

- ⇒ Auto creation of standardized communication channels directly on the TC
- ⇒ Automatically linked to candidate opportunities and job opportunities
- ⇒ Automated posting of standardized alerts (e.g. stage changes) to all relevant parties
- ⇒ Multicast! Something that Slack not have.
 - What is it? Ability to send same message to multiple channels. Useful for communicating to, for example, lists of candidates - each on their own private channel

Note: We won't be able to replicate everything people can do in Slack - and Slack will continue to be a useful tool for TBB and other partners who use it. However, we should be able to provide a pretty close match to Slack, with the advantage that it is built into the TC. Apart from meaning that all partners don't need to use Slack, having this basic functionality in the TC allows for increased automation and better standardisation and organisation. It is also valuable to have the chats tightly linked to the job and candidate opportunities they are associated with.

Chat definitions

The following sections describe for each of the 5 chats: chat name, participants, fourth party participants (in addition to normal 3 participants: candidate, source partner, destination partner), creation trigger and purpose.

Note that all chats receive automatic posts, as appropriate, by the TC for things like stage changes or updates to job details.

To clarify the main participants in each chat we will use the following abbreviations for the normal chat participants:

- S - source partner
- C - candidate
- J - job creator (destination partner)

When more than one participant of a given type can be involved in a chat, we will add a plus (+). So, for example, 'S+ J' means more than one source partner and a job creator.

Source Partner Chat (S J)

Purpose: Communication related to the job between the destination partner (the recruiter) and the source partner in a particular location.

Created: On job creation - until the job is published the chats won't be viewable to others

Participants: Source partner associated with prospects for the job in a particular source location and destination partner (the recruiter).

4th party participants: Trainer - eg TBB Global, local UNHCR

Example: The destination partner may post questions relating to conditions in the particular source location.

There are search filters for 'External ID...', 'Email or phone...', and 'caz'. The main content area displays the job title 'AGL Energy - XFiles - 2021' and 'Job Opportunity Number 33'. A red arrow points to the 'Partners/Chats' tab in the navigation menu. Below the navigation menu is a table with columns for 'Source Partner', 'Contact for Job', and 'Email'. The table lists several source partners, with the last one, 'Talent Beyond Boundaries (Jordan, Lebanon)', selected. To the right of the table is a 'Job Summary' section with a text input field. Below the table is a large grey box with the text 'Select partner from table to begin chat'.

All Source Partners Chat (S+ J)

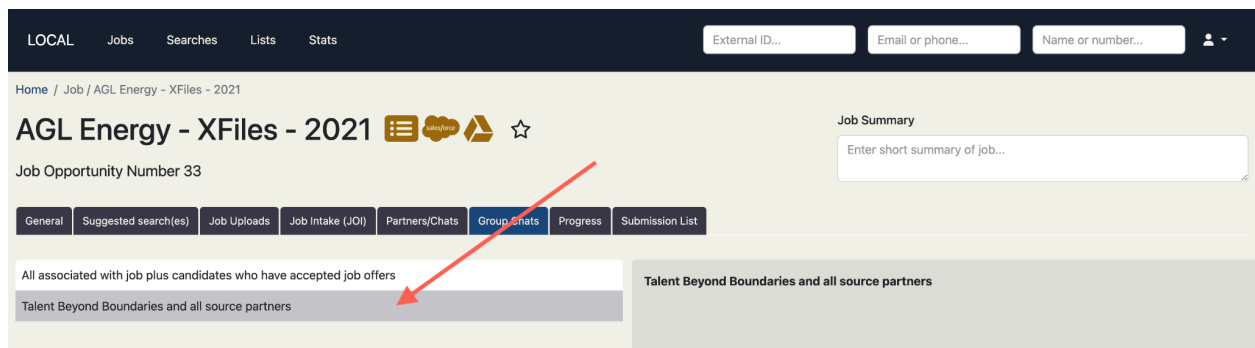

Purpose: This is how the destination partner (the recruiter) can provide all source partners with general information about the job.

Created: On job creation - until the job is published the chats won't be viewable to others

Participants: The job destination partner (the recruiter) plus all source partners.

Example: The destination partner can make any post that they believe will be of general interest to source partners. Source partners can communicate with each other on this chat about the job, as well as with the destination partner - for example general questions to the destination partner about the job that could be of interest to everyone could be posted here.

Admin Portal

At the top, there is a navigation bar with 'LOCAL' and 'Jobs' tabs, and search filters for 'External ID...', 'Email or phone...', and 'Name or number...'. Below the navigation bar, the breadcrumb path is 'Home / Job / AGL Energy - XFiles - 2021'. The main heading is 'AGL Energy - XFiles - 2021' with a list icon, a 'Talkforce' logo, and a star icon. Below the heading, it says 'Job Opportunity Number 33'. A horizontal menu contains several tabs: 'General', 'Suggested search(es)', 'Job Uploads', 'Job Intake (JOI)', 'Partners/Chats', 'Group Chats', 'Progress', and 'Submission List'. The 'Group Chats' tab is highlighted in blue. Below the menu, there are two sections: 'All associated with job plus candidates who have accepted job offers' and 'Talent Beyond Boundaries and all source partners'. A red arrow points from the 'Group Chats' tab to the 'Talent Beyond Boundaries and all source partners' section. On the right side, there is a 'Job Summary' section with a text input field labeled 'Enter short summary of job...'. The overall layout is clean and professional, with a dark blue header and a light beige background.

Prospective Candidate Chat (S C)

Purpose: Private communication between source partner and a single prospective candidate.

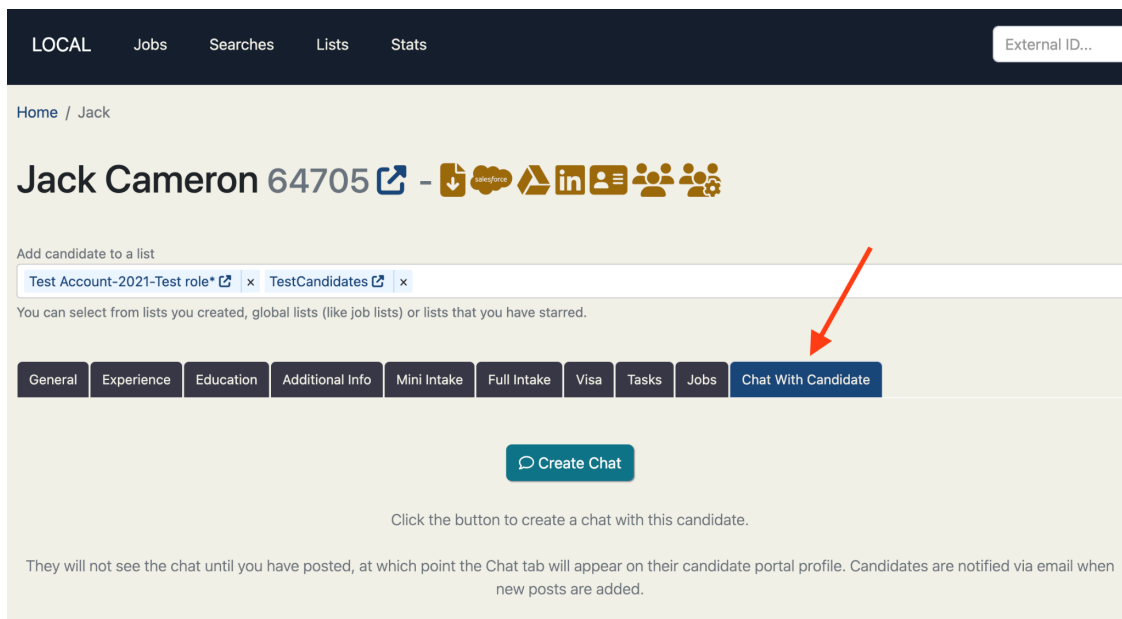

Created: When a candidate is added to a submission list OR when a partner initiates/creates a chat. A partner can initiate a prospect chat by clicking on the 'Create Chat' button, or a prospect chat will automatically create if a candidate is added to a submission list - as they become a prospect for a job.

Participants: Source partner and candidate in source location who is either a prospect for a job OR who has been reached out to by a partner prior to becoming a prospect for a job ('Create Chat' button).

4th party participants: Trainer - eg TBB Global, local UNHCR

Example: Early communication between source partner and a potential candidate. This is prior to the CV Review stage where they will be communicating directly with the destination partner. However it can also be used in later stages for more private communication between the candidate and the source partner - not involving the destination partner.

With sortable columns, quick name and candidate number search, and the ability to filter by unread status, this is a convenient place to handle ongoing candidate correspondence.

Recruiting Candidate Chat (S J C)

Purpose: This brings the destination partner into direct communication with the prospective candidate for the first time.

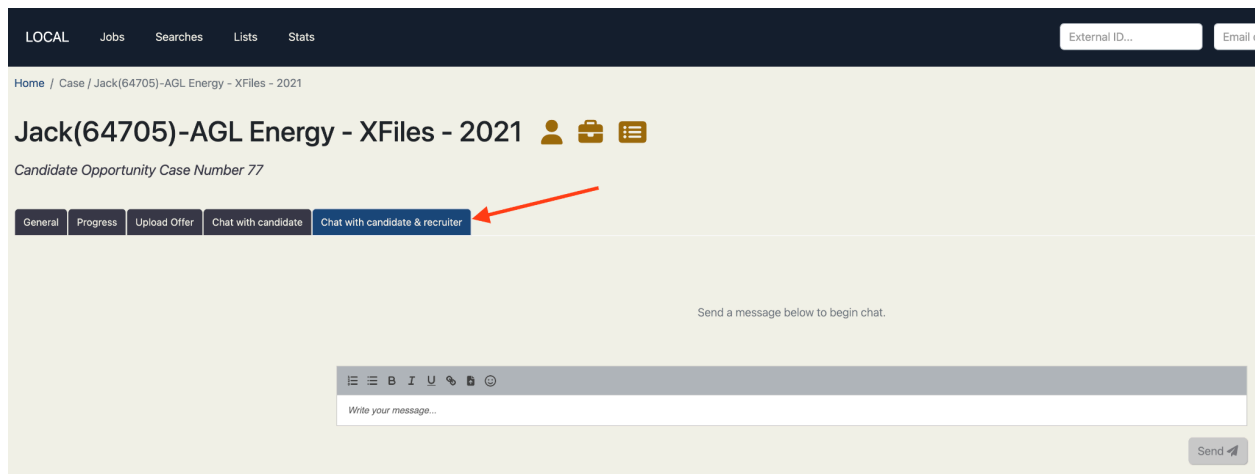

Created: When a candidate's opportunity stage passes the CV Review stage

Participants: Source partner, destination partner (the recruiter) and candidate in source location whom the employer has expressed interest in (ie past the CV Review stage).

4th party participants: Trainer - eg TBB Global, Pathway Club, IOM, local UNHCR

Example: Now that the employer has expressed interest in the candidate, the employer's recruiting process begins - arranging interviews, testing etc. The destination partner can use this chat to communicate directly with the candidate, and source partner, to arrange interview times etc. Later on the candidate can post questions about the job, destination country, etc directly to the destination partner. This chat can also be used by the candidate to upload required documents as requested by the destination partner.

All Candidates Chat (S+ J C+)

Purpose: Communication with successful candidates, and all partners who have worked on the job.

Created: When first candidate passes the job offer stage

Participants: All source partners, the job destination partner (recruiter), and all candidates who have received and accepted the job offer.

Example: Candidates can help each other through the process of getting ready to relocate. Partners are also there to help. The key partners will be in the candidates' locations, and the destination partner of course. But other source partners may also have useful advice and experience to share.

A red arrow points to the 'Chat with partners helping with relocation' option.

'Jobs' tab on profile, select relevant job and then select chat named 'Chat with partners helping with relocation'

User perspectives

Although the different kinds of chats might seem complicated if you try to imagine their use for all different types of user, it will hopefully seem intuitive and natural in the way it is exposed to each individual type of user. They will see the chats associated with jobs and candidate cases in a natural and easily accessible way which assists their normal daily work.

- Source partners see all 5 chats.
- Destination partners see 4 types of chat (all except the early "Prospective candidate" chat between source partner and candidate).
- Candidates see the 3 chats that specifically involve them (all except the chats just between partners: the "Source partner" and "All Source Partners' chats).

Notifications

Users will be notified of new posts in chats that they are involved in. There are two ways that users are notified:

- Email notifications: Every 24 hours the TC will be checked for unread posts and users that are associated with the unread posts will be sent an email. See example of email below.

Dear Ali Wawi,

In the last 24 hours the Talent Catalog has detected that new posts have been added to chats that you are subscribed to.

Log in to the Talent Catalog to see the new posts.

You can log in by clicking here or by going to <https://tctalent.org/candidate-portal> in your browser.

Your Talent Catalog username is awawi.

If you forget your password, click on "Forgot password" on the Talent Catalog login screen.

- TC notifications: A red dot will appear on a tab where unread chats are located. If under that tab there is a list, a red dot will also appear next to the list item that has unread posts. See below for some examples.

The screenshot shows the Talent Catalog interface with several notification indicators. A red dot on the 'Partners/Chats' tab is labeled 'TAB NOTIFICATIONS'. A red dot on the 'Test Account-2022-Test role 2' list item is labeled 'LIST NOTIFICATIONS'. The interface includes a search bar, filters, a table of job listings, and a 'Partners/Chats' section with a table of source partners.
