

Office of the National Democratic Party Chair

Good Afternoon,

I would like to say that the Democratic National Committee, operating under my leadership and guidance, has followed the party's constitution and bylaws with the utmost reverence. Before we make a decision, the first thing we check is the constitution. We then have our party lawyers review the decision before making a motion.

For Xarcos to hire a legal firm to investigate our actions and file for review with the Board of Appeals without consulting us on the supposed violations is concerning. Everyone knows that I value everyone's opinion. I truly hope he isn't doing this for political gain. We do have elections coming up soon and I can't help but think he might be considering a run. I will leave this to the future.

The Democratic National Committee will vehemently prove these allegations wrong to the Board of Appeals.

Thank you.

The Democratic National Committee Chair.
