

ELTP Season 13 Commissioner Application

anom

Contact: u/hellier

Please describe your experience and contributions in competitive TagPro?

Captained successfully for 3 consecutive seasons

Why do you want to be a commissioner?

I feel I can do a better job than predecessors

What is your manifesto for ELTP?

People put too much emphasis on majors not being the quality of yesteryear, and not enough on balancing the league. I promise to bring balance to the league.

##Split up majors and minors by giving them their own captain / team

People don't want to captain because it's a time sink. It shouldn't be. We can split the load if we give each tier it's own captain.

Majors should consist of 4 players, 3 auctioned and 1 captain. The amount of work involved is minimal compared to minors, so force captains of equal ability to captain for a better balance. No Euroll adjustments.

###More Minor teams

If players are only getting 10 mins per week then they're likely to bugger off pretty quickly. So let's ensure they get more mins by having more teams and less players per team. There is a risk some teams will flop with inactivity but it's for the greater good.

###Minors Auction + Snake

Snake is an awful way to build teams. The top minor players need to be evenly distributed for better balanced.

###No Euroll adjustments

They don't work because peoples judgement of others gets flaky. Jerry going for 34 less than Fraser last season highlights this. It gave Snipes an unfair advantage going into the auction, and resulted in them acquiring an imbalanced squad.

##End community maps

They're always a naff map that no one enjoys.

##Remove position restrictions

Allow players to put their preferred position but have captains go into the auction with the knowledge that everyone plays both.

##Video Points

Not enough games were recorded because we had no incentive to do so. Bring back video points. Bonus for commentary.

##Prioritise community engagement

Bring in fresh content, and ensure all tedious tasks such as updating the sidebar promptly after matches gets done.