

Sharing Life

What are the benefits of practicing sharing life for:

1) your team (as a whole)

2) you (individually)

3) other members of your team (individually)

Sharing life requires doing things that are challenging/risky, but can result in the building of a community that is quite rich and beautiful. Draw a diagram that demonstrates your understanding of the following elements of a shared life: vulnerability, trust, humility, safety, encouragement, growth
