

Chosen as the virgin sacrifice to a dragon terrorizing her village, the fair maiden Farean thought her life was over. But, much to her surprise, the dragon decides to keep her as a pet. Now, she must find a way to escape the mystical, ancient ruin the dragon calls its lair. She crosses paths with a mysterious, bewildering white-haired man who claims to watch over her. Meanwhile, Farean's lover, brave knight Sir Linus, must turn against his order and make his way to the mountain's summit to slay the dragon once and for all. But with an ancient evil plotting to return, the only things standing in the way of the foul lich's resurrection might be the dragon itself, a bunch of magic mushrooms and a talking squirrel. Can Sir Linus survive? Will Farean unravel the mystery of High Ever keep, its white-haired guardian and find a way to escape the dragon? Or is the world going to hell in a handbasket?
