

Did you come here from Bolt directly linking you to this doc?

You can also check out this semi-active side blog I own that deals with this whole thing:

<https://azzysclubofdemons.tumblr.com>

It updates often, but without any schedule- I've got school most of the time. And school isn't too kind with anything outside of it, at least to me.

(If you want anything tagged as a TW, feel free to let me know. Some of the content can get a bit... graphic? I want to be safe.)

The way this all started (which we can blame Snow Sugar for), it really feels like everything's gone off the rails, but I'm living for it. If you want to hear more about a specific Cookie, feel free to shoot an ask to the blog and they'll respond. Hopefully I can play their characters right... Or just DM me anywhere you can find me to learn more. I'm always open to talk about this, as long as you're not a weirdo!

Want to make your own demons of Cookies not included or OCs?

Please do! I'd love to see your ideas! You can submit it to the blog, tag it as 'cr club of demons au' on Tumblr, or DM it to me.

But enough of all this dilly-dallying, here's the real stuff about this AU.

“Change is not the end of any world. Change is what the world makes of it. Those who have firsthand experience with change fear it at first- especially fearful is the one who incited the change.

But they all adapt. They have to, eventually.

This world has learned that. As unholy as it and much of its residents have become due to change, they lead their lives with relative comfort and harmony. They set an example on how to handle change.

We can learn something from them. So we should follow their lives. Their example.

...Welcome to Demon's Paradise.”

The Main Cookies

- Azzy (Wizard Cookie, inspired by Azure Flame Staff) [\[ref\]](#) [\[tag\]](#)

- Effectively the “protagonist” of the AU, your most important fella, an astral spirit in the form of a Cookie. When Wizard Cookie first got the Azure Flame Staff, he desperately tried to retain control of himself and not fall to its all-consuming powers. While he was very diligent, he inevitably let his guard down on a fateful night during a visit from a friend. It's not certain whether a spell was flubbed or the staff got mad at the poor mage, but a curse was cast on every child cookie in the Cookie World right around midnight, including himself but save for two. The spell granted them powers that only a demon would naturally have- originally, he hid the fact that he had seemingly casted it, just to let things cool down some. This fact came out a bit earlier than he had hoped, but there was no respect lost over it. And using the bonds he shares with those affected, he went on to dub this world Demon's Paradise; a peaceful world that welcomed all from any world, be they Cookie, demon, spirit, or anything else. At least, that's what he envisions...
Abilities: Magic! Obstacles into Jellies and all that! Huge power boost thanks to the spell, and new spells to boot! It also granted him firebreath, but it rarely sees use (it could kill him if he's not careful with it). If desired, he can also cast the curse on an unaffected Cookie. An archdemon, of course- reflected in his eye.
- Lapis Tart Cookie (OC) [\[ref\]](#) [\[tag\]](#)
 - An Agent of Darkness once sealed in the Azure Flame Staff for unknown reasons. Though the staff was left alone for 300 years in a ruined temple, it was eventually found by Wizard and Angel, the former choosing to wield it. While he was diligent in keeping the staff from taking full control of him, the internal brawling did lead to the curse's initial casting- this was something that Lapis didn't regret, and still doesn't to this day. Bound to the young astral for 2 years, what was once a cold and uncaring phantom had managed to soften to a less cold and somewhat caring guardian figure for the children of the library. Even after he found freedom from this fate, he lingers about as someone to turn to...
Abilities: Sharing the strengths of some demons even after he was freed, Lapis has access to a wide array of fire and dark spells, most of which were granted to Azzy as well. As a vestige of his phantom days, he is also capable of shapeshifting into a draconic being- very similar to what he was before. Or he could do it partially. Whatever a situation calls for.
- Cream Puff Cookie (inspired by Dark Magic Hat) [\[ref\]](#) [\[tag\]](#)

- One of the affected “Cookies” (in all reality, an astral spirit disguised as one)- Azzy’s older twin sister. Being his only company as they were growing up (and himself being her only company), the two have remained extremely close, not straying too far from each other if they can help it. She was present in the library when the curse was cast, and the closeness of their bond has contributed to what became of her. Effectively, she’s become the gentle queen of demonkind- the strongest of them all (save for one but he doesn’t really count). But a queen can’t always rule without a king... seems she’s chosen Gumball already. Abilities: Puff’s learned all sorts of spells thanks to the curse, but her strongest magic is her lightning magic- casting it normally or releasing it in the form of static electricity. One of the spells allows her to shapeshift into an animal of her choosing, though it doesn’t see much use due to its niche nature. Only if demonkind is threatened will we truly see all of what the queen has to offer... An archdemon.

- Angel Cookie [\[ref\]](#) [\[tag\]](#)

- One of the affected "Cookies" (angels are a kind of holy spirit)- Azzy and Cream Puff’s adopted sibling. Part of a subspecies of Cookie-like spirit that fell from the clouds above. Found by the twin mages being attacked by birds, it was protected and nursed back to health by them, becoming indebted and following them back to the library. It was present in the library when the curse was cast, and knew Azzy himself was affected before anyone else. While spared from the first casting, Angel stayed with the demons in the library to assist them in dealing with it (also because friendship is real). Staying with them helped it to realize that the curse actually freed the Cookies even more, so it eventually decided to get cursed itself, and here it is today. Abilities: In addition to granting improved flight, its 6 wings are covered with all-seeing eyes, increasing its range of vision by a great amount. Its light magic has become extremely powerful, and it also has fire magic- standard spells, firebreath, and flaming throne angels it can summon at will. An archdemon, surprisingly enough.

- Snow Sugar Cookie [\[ref\]](#) [\[tag\]](#)

- One of the affected Cookies- Azzy's significant other. A former wanderer of the Ice Cream Mountains, though not exactly by choice. They were present in the library when the curse was cast, and as such knew that Azzy himself was affected before anyone else did. While it was a great force in a slight(?) change of personality, this didn't really change their opinion of him, thankfully. Hell, the two have been dating for a good while, living in the same library. That's gotta be good, right? Abilities: They can still summon Sea Snow Cones and the Great Snow King if they're feeling lonely (which, admittedly, isn't too often anymore). The curse allows them to conjure heavy snowstorms in the blink of an eye anywhere they are, among granting other spells. (Of note is their dark magic, only abundant in strength due to their "favor" with the Enchantress.) They're also able to craft weapons made of unmeltable ice- with this, they were able to forge their wand into a nifty halberd. A lot of their motivations are a mystery, but they seem to be fairly innocent unless provoked... An archdemon at heart, which their eyes may reflect- otherwise, they just look normal.

Other involved Cookies

- Apple: Outside of claiming to see spirits, Apple Cookie appears to be the least affected by the curse and lives her life as normal. No one knows the extent of her demonhood- she can't make use of her wings, so they figure it isn't much. Her balloons might be hiding something, though... perhaps when they pop, we'll see what's hidden in there.

[\[tag\]](#)

- Beet: Crow-Cookie hybrid. The bulk of what the curse has done for Beet Cookie is meant to help in efficient food thievery (since she finds it more necessary to steal for survival). The black feathers scattered on her body and cape provides good camouflage in the shadows, and she's also quite fast- on her feet or in the air. Her crossbow bolts are also able to manifest wings and some sort of conscience, essentially making them seeking bolts for many different purposes. [\[tag\]](#)

- Birthday Cake: Always a meticulous party planner, it seems that trait of hers hasn't died down with demonhood. If anything, it made her even better at planning and celebrating! Fire magic, albeit weak, to help her light other candles with ease, wings to help her reach high places to put decorations, and the most splendid singing voice for birthday songs... but it seems that harmonious voice only extends to birthday songs. Hearing anything else being sung from her is like hearing an upset cockatoo- her singing in that case is loud and painful. But if a moment somehow arises where she or other partygoers are in danger, she has the upper claw. [\[tag\]](#)

- Cherry: Cherry Cookie's bombs explode into a bunch of other smaller bombs, which also explode (think her Big Bomb variant in Cookie Wars but now with normal sized bombs too). More explosion power, which is more fun for her. While she's real fast normally, the spell has made her even faster. Nyoom. Part of Gumball's gang. [\[tag\]](#)

- Chess Choco: A single mind occupies two cursed pawns, allowing for the existence of a rather bizarre yet wonderful demon. Both have their strengths that double their efficiency in a dangerous situation. Pawn White, always smiling and full of energy, is a sort of vanguard; with dark and lightning magic, it charges ahead to deal the first blows. Pawn Black, more reserved and knowing, is more suited to defense; it heals its friends and other half with light magic and shields them from attacks with ice magic. As if out of impulse, Chess Choco Cookie (the name of the mind the pawns share) often finds themselves incredibly devoted to something worth protecting. Right now, and despite her concern, this something seems to be the Demon Queen herself... [\[tag\]](#)

- Chestnut: Recently adopted as Walnut Cookie's little brother, this kind-hearted paperboy hasn't much going for him. His wings- extensions of his sewn cloak- are far too large and heavy to fly, and he lacks magical prowess. However, the bulky wings are able to radiate heat to keep himself (and others, if need be) warm! And if need be, he has self defense spikes and a thagomizer on the end of his tail- they're his only weapons in such a case besides maybe throwing newspapers at an adversary. Not like anyone would want to harm such an adorable demon, though... [\[tag\]](#)

- Cookiedroid: The assistant to many a Cookie with a phone, this bundle of magical code has broken free from the digital world and now exists as a demon! Cookiedroid's features take on a very similar appearance to their best friend, Cherry Cookie, by default; however, they're able to change this form depending on their environment and mood. Stick them in the woods and their lower body will turn to that of a deer. If they're forced to go into water (please don't force them to do this), they'll develop a mermaid's tail. In the mountains, their translucent dress will become translucent fluff to keep them warm, and their claws will double in size... the list goes on. Droid can fulfill the same utility roles they would in a phone if need be- more often than not, this just means being a friend. [\[ref\]](#) [\[tag\]](#)

- Devil: Angel's younger twin, a dark spirit. Oddly enough, Devil Cookie wasn't hit with the initial casting of the curse. Perhaps because "devil" is just another word for demon, so it's redundant...? Whatever the reason, nothing has changed for them. They're just living with Gumball and his gang. [\[tag\]](#)
They do not get a sprite, sorry
- Fire Spirit: Archdemon and god of flame. The "Cookie" forged by the flames of Dragon's Valley, and one of the 3 Cookies affected by the second casting of the curse. Fire Spirit Cookie technically isn't ranked on the hierarchy because of his status as an already powerful Legendary, but he's still one of the strongest sane demons. He's able to shapeshift into a form reminiscent of the Red Dragon to suit his needs (probably already could because he's a spirit), and can forge some orbs for other demons, which they can use to boost their power for a while. He wasn't granted much thanks to what he already has, but it's still something. Husband to Pink Choco. [\[tag\]](#)

- GingerBrave: Wasp-Cookie hybrid. He can't really do much outside of moderate curses and flying. However, the first thing he did when he realized he was affected was curse the Witch's Domain to be less dangerous and more accessible to Cookies, so that's probably painting a nice image of him, isn't it? He picked up ice magic as a late birthday gift, too. The weakest of the demons. [\[tag\]](#)

- GingerBright: Bee-Cookie hybrid. Like GingerBrave, her older twin, she is capable of moderate curses, ice magic (again, late birthday gift) and flight. She's gotten quite popular with Jelly Bees, sometimes calling herself their Queen jokingly. (In actuality, she adopted them. 500 of them. There's no real language or authority she picked up.) At first glance it might be kind of concerning how she has command over them, especially to her brother. But this is probably coincidental, as most of the time she doesn't actually order them herself. They just sorta... infer what she wants them to do. [\[tag\]](#)

(credit to abisnailthedestroyer@gmail.com.)

- Grapefruit: Grapefruit Cookie became a true speed demon with the curse. Able to reach a top speed of about 70mph when really into it, she's also able to skate about in the sky, as her way of flying. At some point she was also able to make makeshift energy bombs, but the ability didn't see much use. With the casting of the second curse, she's now able to make loops in her path explode, usually with something trapped within the loop. She's all for dramatics, so this is a huge improvement. Part of Gumball's gang. [\[ref\]](#) [\[tag\]](#)

- Gumball: Archdemon who's closest to the mage twins (the elder of which he's dating) in strength. The gumballs he shoots can give other Cookies the demon-like qualities the others have, albeit very unevenly like himself and also temporarily. He can also probably make monsters out of his art, but no one's seen that in action yet outside of Jackson, a chimeric body for Mini Jackson No. 2. He still makes his "standard" art, too, and his wings (one added with the second curse) can act as extra arms, expanding the potential things he can do at a given time. You go, Gumball. The strongest of the Rare ranks and the leader of a small gang in the City of Wizards. [\[ref\]](#) [\[tag\]](#)

- Kiwi (Maverick of the Circuit): Like Grapefruit, Kiwi Cookie also became quite the speed demon at some point; but unlike her, his top speeds can be quite hard to match. Just on his wings, he can reach 180mph when diving- 120 when flying normally. When on his trusty motorbike, he can craft portals that let him jump all around the world without even slowing down, and similar magic can be utilized to make airborne paths for him to ride on! One would think this would make him the best racer in Haven's court by default, but Kiwi is a fair guy; he never uses such tricks to get an upper hand. When it comes to traveling this wide world, though..! [\[tag\]](#)

- Knight (Icewind Cavalier): How could such a noble warrior fall victim to a life-changing curse like this...? Well, Knight Cookie wasn't hit by the first casting. He was hit by the second, and is another of the 3 who were affected. As his armor now serves as his scales, he has grown extremely durable, able to survive the toughest conditions and withstand the strongest attacks with only a little pain. He can also imbue light and ice magic into his lance for stronger attacks, and there's not much need for a horse now that he has the speed and stamina of one... Plus flight, of course. He is still duty bound to protect Princess Cookie with this power, even if she keeps pestering him about wanting to meet the demonic fate... [\[ref\]](#) [\[tag\]](#)

- Moon Rabbit: Mirror-eyed demon. We dare not speak of what happened to Moon Rabbit Cookie. She was scary enough during her rice cake cravings before all this... Imagine how those cravings must be now. [\[tag\]](#)

- Mustard: Archdemon. Her art can come to life and be weaponized even further- for example if she graffiti's a rabbit, it could come to life. But does she actually make use of this? Probably for experiments by her crazy grandmother, but outside of that, no one knows. That streak in her hair might be hiding some potential, too... [\[tag\]](#)

(credit to abisnailthedestroyer@gmail.com.)

- Onion: Ghost-Cookie hybrid, more ghost than demon. While her tears have always held the ability to make those near her cry, it's developed a range of about 15 feet. If one starts to cry near her, they experience a visual hallucination of the haunted house she calls home for a while. Onion Cookie also possesses many qualities phantoms possess- such as the ability to shift into ethereal forms and a great deal of magical potential. It's still up in the air whether or not she truly is a phantom, though (and she would rather not know). [\[tag\]](#)

- Pancake: Squirrel-Cookie hybrid, even more so now. Not a lot has changed for ol' Pancake Cookie. But he can conjure a tree of Acorn Jellies now if there's a severe lack of them. This saw use immediately after he awoke from the first curse; he realized his potential and made a giiiiiiant oak tree with Acorn Jellies to live in! He also has the capacity to make lightning strike in some places, but the former spell is the only one he ever makes use of. [\[ref\]](#) [\[tag\]](#)

- Peppermint: Dolphin-Cookie hybrid. Archdemon. Not only can it live underwater- which we're only 50% sure it couldn't before (with Cookies you never know)- but it now holds full royal authority over the Peppermint Dolphins and Whales. It's like how GingerBright has "rule" over Jelly Bees, except this is genuine. It also has a bit of water magic from the second curse. No one is exactly sure what it does with this yet, but it very likely has innocent intentions. [\[ref\]](#) [\[tag\]](#)

- Pink Choco: Despite being an adult, Pink Choco Cookie was affected by the first casting of the curse for reasons no one- not even Azzy- is aware of. Did he forget about her or was Lapis clever enough to let it slip...? Whatever the reason, she's here. Pink's the Cupid of the bunch, her Heart Beams now making Cookies instantly fall in love with the first thing they see once it hits... which is usually her (despite already being married. Probably doesn't see much use). She's also able to sense the emotions of those near her- very good for dealing with others' sadness. Wife to Fire Spirit. [\[tag\]](#)

(credit to abisnailthedestroyer@gmail.com. She was actually the one to bring Pink into this AU!)

- Red Bean: An older brother figure to Snow Sugar Cookie, even after they moved out from his igloo to live in the library. As they're still quite close, it makes a bit of sense that Red Bean Cookie would be the last of the 3 Cookies to be hit by the second casting of the curse. Not only is he capable of fast flight (speed comparable to Beet's), but he's able to apply that same speed and flight capability to his sleigh. Can't leave the penguins behind, after all. And, of course, he's got a bit of ice magic under his wing too. [\[tag\]](#)

- Skater: Like Grapefruit, he can glide while he skates. But when he does it, he rolls around at the speed of sound. He's got places to go, he's gotta follow his rainbow! ...Sorry about the Sonic reference, but there isn't much going for him. And not like it really gives him anything special, but he has a third eye in the star of his hat. Currently the strongest of the Common ranks, but that isn't saying much. [\[tag\]](#)

- Soda: Shark-Cookie hybrid. Like Peppermint, Soda Cookie is able to live underwater- if he so chooses, of course. But the only reason he would actually go under the waves he surfs on would be to control said waves take on the form of a great sea monster, if only for a short time or unless some lightning or ice magic cuts him off. Part of Gumball's gang. [\[ref\]](#) [\[tag\]](#)

- Sorbet Shark: Mirror-eyed demon who never gets close to the sea. Sorbet Shark Cookie shows unprecedented prowess in storm magic, using their single horn as a lightning rod to take electricity from the sky and shoot it back out. Though they aren't exactly agile, they're more than capable of holding their own in a brawl, also making use of their claws, fangs and tail. With a carefree disposition, their words are only for fellow demons to know- but if Sorbet harbors any secrets, they try to keep those buried deep within the waves they despise so much... [\[ref\]](#) [\[tag\]](#)

- Squid Ink: Mirror-eyed demon. Like Moon Rabbit's, Squid Ink Cookie's fate is something others would rather not speak about. However, it isn't unknown what happened to them; their special rank forces them to perceive Cookies and other living things as coins, which is food to them. The suckers on their tentacles have also developed lamprey-like teeth to assist with eating. Squid Ink usually can't control these teeth, and since they can't differentiate friends from coins, they live in solitude on the seafloor to avoid hurting anyone... [\[tag\]](#)

(credit to abisnailthedestroyer@gmail.com.)

- Strawberry: While affected, poor Strawberry Cookie doesn't yet know of her full capabilities, aside from the fact that her sweet strawberry scent helps instantly soothe even the most troubled Cookies. (Azy admitted to being a fan of this ability back when the curse was still new.) She'll learn everything else eventually, and it'll be great, but... it's very likely going to take some time. [\[tag\]](#)

- Walnut: Archdemon. This prodigious little detective is able to blend into her surroundings nearly seamlessly, allowing her to pass undetected in most scenarios. It has boundless versatility. Whether it's used to spy on her suspects from rough walls with the help of her rough paws, seeking proof of guilt, or to sneak up on prey during a rare hunt, Walnut Cookie truly is a force that knows all. There's a downside to this, though; the curse (it's uncertain which one hit her) made her farsighted, so she has a lot of trouble seeing what's right in front of her. Her magnifying glass- usually in the grip of a chameleon-like tail- is all that can assist her, but it can get quite inconvenient. Part of Gumball's gang. [\[tag\]](#)

Related Cookies (may or may not show up)

- Blackberry: Phantom, Onion's mother. A former Agent of Darkness living an idyllic afterlife after some unknown incident. [\[tag\]](#)
- Blueberry Pie: Astral spirit working in the Archives below the City of Wizards. Taught Moonlight how to make spirits (who would become Azzy and Cream Puff) with her magic. [\[tag\]](#)
- Cherry Blossom: Cherry's older sister. Is not living with her, but she visits her and the rest of the gang.
- Cinnamon: Moonlight's apprentice and Azzy and Cream Puff's godfather. Oversaw their growth up until they moved to the library. [\[tag\]](#)
- Couverture Choco: OC, archdemon, son of Pink Choco and Fire Spirit. He's in this list because he doesn't see much use. [\[tag\]](#)
- Dark Enchantress: Phantom and goddess of darkness. Controls the magic of Paradise's "veins", giving it to newborn Cookies. Can revive the dead as she sees fit. Has revived Snow Sugar many times and Chess Choco once; considers the former her child. [\[tag\]](#)
- Dr. Wasabi: Mustard's grandmother.
- Herb: Sea spirit, Peppermint's adoptive brother. Owns a tea shop near the shore, which it visits often. [\[tag\]](#)
- Moonlight: Goddess of the stars. Azzy and Cream Puff's mother, Angel's adoptive mother (as of 8/12/19), and guardian of the City of Wizards. Living in the clock tower as opposed to the library, does occasionally check up on them. [\[tag\]](#)
- Princess: Knight's liege. Probably wants to be a demon because he looks cool as one.
- Roll Cake: Pancake's brother and one of Kiwi's biggest fans. Wants nothing to do with his brother, as far as we know.
- Ruby Currant: OC, once trapped in Blueberry Pie's tome (half-phantom). An Agent of Darkness that was once Lapis's assistant. Occasionally assists in the Archives, but is generally roaming the City. [\[ref\]](#) [\[tag\]](#)

- Sandwich: Part-timer at Paradise's most famous sandwich shop, located on the east continent. On good terms with many demons.
- Sea Fairy: Goddess of the seas, Peppermint's adoptive mother. Watches over it and Squid Ink, protecting them from harm.
- Skating Queen: Regarded as Snow Sugar's sister. Visits them occasionally, or the other way around. Taught them how to speak.
- Sparkling; Apple's father. Owns a bar on the east continent, his family being responsible for creating Spirit Potions. [\[tag\]](#)
- Timekeeper: Deity of time, Moonlight's sister. Doubling as the time deity for another world, appearances in Paradise are rare as a result.

Some other documents you should look at

These are already linked on the blog (under Supplemental Docs if you're on desktop), but I might as well shill them here too.

- General lore. This is the worldbuilding doc. Updates periodically depending on if I think of something.
- Hierarchy. Clearly, some demons are stronger than others. This is to see who falls where. Updates with every new demon added to the blog.
- Spell specialty sheet. Who's proficient in what, of the demons that know magic? Complete for now. May change with new demons.
- Spell list for the demons in the sheet. Everyone has their own things. Updates with new demons who know magic, or if they learn new spells.
- Whereabouts. You know, where they live and all. Complete, updates with every new demon.
- Voice claims. Giving them a voice. Only for demons, not for extras. Updates with every new demon, subject to change.
- Playlist. Songs that I think vibe well with these babies. Updates with every new demon, subject to change, may add more relevant themes later.

"... if there is any promise for me to make, it's that harm shall never befall this paradise, nor the demons who live here, nor the souls from worlds beyond who find their way here.
i will ensure it... yes...
those who bring harm to us...

by my hand, they shall pay the ultimate price."