

A statement about AmaZine and the Future of Flavors of the Galaxy

Hello, everyone! It's been a while since we posted on any socials, but rest assured, we still plan to go ahead with this zine. First, though, in light of recent events, we wanted to clear a few things up.

Regarding AmaZine's services

We have heard the zine community loud and clear and we completely agree with the sentiment that, in the independent zine scene, a professional agency has no place. We have since parted ways with AmaZine – they will not be a part of Flavors of the Galaxy at all. Our moderator team will now only include the head, layout, social media, art, digital merch, and writing mods.

Regarding a physical release

We believe that, combined with our interest check results and recent events, it is most fair to shift to a digital, free release of the zine. This way, we can focus our efforts on a fun passion project, which is what this was always intended to be.

Regarding contributor applications

Contributor applications will be opening soon – January 5th, to be precise. Applications will be open one month, until February 5th.

From the Flavors of the Galaxy team: Thank you for your understanding and patience! We can't wait to see all of your creativity in the upcoming application process. 🌈❤️