

Iciy Hot Bio

Isis-Imon Wilborn stage name Iciy Hot is a faucet of talent from actress to recording artist whose true love is for the craft of rap and r&b. Iciy Hot has a long range of development training and performing and modeling since the age of three. Iciy Hot has been around performers her entire life and developed a true love for Hip-Hop around the age of 12. That's when she decided to take the initiative to learn the piano and began writing her own songs.

Iciy has had an old soul since a toddler and her choice of being a true lyricist is captive to her deep thoughts. Although like most teens Iciy loves being the clown in the room and her music is an expression of the energy she brings being an on the go teen and entrepreneur running her own record label aside her mom and being the oldest child of six by her father. She grew up in a single parent home and her dreams of being an artist was and is constantly challenged by the financial hardships of not always having the means to support her craft. This has been the driving force of making her very competitive in order to train with the best. She has had to audition for free programming and living in a city with an overflow of talented people, Iciy Hot knew she had to be amongst the best of the best. She trained from young with restoration plaza in the arts, Gospel for teens, Alpha NY Theater and her performing arts school in which she had to land her slot through an audition process.

Iciy loves a lot of old school artist Big Daddy Kane, Lauryn Hill, and Nas to name a few and her vocal ability has been compared to Brandy, Adele, and Lauryn Hill. A dynamic artist who can rock to a variety of genres skillfully.

Iciy Hot encompasses a cool kid demeanor. She represents the quirky side of her hometown, Brooklyn.