

As an ASU Prep student, I am...

- An Independent Scholar
- An Innovative Thinker
- An Empathetic Community Member
- An Organized Self-Starter
- A Skilled Communicator
- A Collaborative Problem-Solver

Independent Scholar

Self-Awareness

I can recognize my personal values, emotions, strengths and weaknesses in order to set and reflect on goals.

Self-Advocacy

I can understand my personal learning preferences, know when and how to ask for help, and advocate for my own good.

Integrity

I can stay true to myself, own my mistakes, and empower others.

Commitment to Learning

I can believe in myself, persevere through challenges, take risks, and embrace a growth mindset to become a lifelong learner.

Innovative Thinker

Curiosity

I can take genuine interest in new experiences and grow my knowledge by posing open-ended questions around "What if...?"

Perspective-Taking

I can harness culturally diverse viewpoints outside of my own perspective.

Deep Thinking

I can disrupt the obvious, seek the truth, and evaluate the accuracy, meaning, quality, or intent of information.

Creating

I can design and produce original work.

Empathetic Community Member

Belonging

I can support inclusivity and help each person feel like they belong by using empathy to understand others' contexts.

Relationship Building

I can develop and recognize healthy relationships by interacting with peers and adults to build professional and social networks.

Mentoring Others

I can lead by example, model positive behavior, and give freely to support growth of the community.

Optimism

I can look forward to good things happening in the future, work hard to achieve them, and be flexible with unknowns.

Organized Self-Starter

Planning

I can lead projects with clear goals, strategies, and timelines.

Organizing

I can find strategies to collect and organize notes, course work, and project details.

Prioritizing

I can prioritize tasks in order to maintain a healthy workload and I can differentiate between important and urgent tasks.

Commitment

I can take responsibility and demonstrate follow through.

Skilled Communicator

Active Listening

I can listen attentively and respond constructively.

Advocating for Others

I can be a champion for people and causes outside of myself.

Presenting

I can share coherent ideas and explain information through multiple mediums so that my audience can easily understand.

Persuading

I can contribute thoughts in an organized manner, respectfully disagree, counter, or elevate the thoughts of others.

Collaborative Problem-Solver

Teamwork Awareness

I can determine roles within a group in order to know when to lead and when to step back.

Contributing

I can play a part in the process, be responsible for my share of the work, and meaningfully communicate my needs.

Challenging

I can question systems and shape understanding by looking at symptoms of problems, causes and alternative solutions.

Solution Making

I can understand the problem, gather data, and test solutions.