Week 1: June 1 - 5, 2020

Animation 101/ Mini Film Fest- CANCELLED

Instructors: Paula Allen/Pollyzoom

Fee: $145

Grades: 2nd to 5th

Time: 11am to 12noon

Let your characters and drawings come to life! Write a story, turn it into a script, generate a storyboard, create characters and then make them move. You don't need to be a great artist to be a great animator! Campers will learn the process and go through the steps to develop their stories and art into animated shorts. We will have a film fest on Friday of all our work created that week. Consider signing up for Week 2 where we will further hone our skills.

www.pollyzoom.com

Crafting at home with Everyday Items

Instructors: Danielle Cameron

Fee: $135

Grades: 3rd and 4th

Time: 9am - 10am

Join Danielle Cameron for some crafting fun! We'll use everyday items around your home like old t-shirts, popsicle sticks, crayons, markers, old boxes, and anything else you have laying around to create masterpieces you will be proud of. If there's something you're interested in creating, make a special request and we'll dive into a world of crafting!

- St Pete's Preserve the 'Burg
- Smithsonian

Sports Broadcasting and Analytics Camp: Create & Host Your Own ESPN Sports Highlight & Analytics Show

Instructors: Drobots

Fee: $260

Grades: 7th to 10th

Time: 8:30am to 3pm with breaks

In sports, there was a time when coaching, management, and decision-making came down to instinct, experience and tradition. Over the last 20 years, statistical analysis has become the new normal for sports teams. This summer, you will have the opportunity to develop skills in sports analytics, become a truly knowledgeable sports fan, improve your skills in fantasy sports, and maybe launch a career in the world of sports one day! Develop public speaking, writing, recording and editing skills.

The hit movie "Moneyball" opened the eyes to the world of sports statistics and challenged everyone on how to think differently. Now middle and high school students are learning how to dissect video footage to analyze their favorite sports teams. Now is your opportunity to learn more about how coaches and general managers of sports teams analyze their teams and players. During this camp, you will have the opportunity to pick your favorite sports team or player and put together a portfolio and analysis on how best they can improve.

Instructors: Drobots

Fee: $260

Grades: 4th to 7th

Time: 8:30am to 3pm with breaks

Create sports anchor and sideline reporting videos like ESPN, Bleacher Report and more. Join us for a week of one of our most popular camp programs and launch your sports production career. Develop public speaking, writing, recording and editing skills. Campers will learn how to split video clips from recordings of their favorite sports/games; from Professional Sports' All-Star Games as well as from the Men's or Women's World Cup, Super Bowls, World Series, NBA Finals, etc. After learning how to "tag" video clips and organize those clips into a highlight reel, campers will master their TV voice to create an "ESPN-like" sports broadcast. If you love highlight films or sports news (ie: SportsCenter), then this is the perfect opportunity to go behind the scenes and learn the same tricks of the trade that broadcasters/producers use to prepare for a live film. All participants will produce a final audio/video recording so they share their talents with families and friends.

Sports Broadcasting and Analytics Camp: Create & Host Your Own ESPN Sports Highlight & Analytics Show

Instructors: Drobots

Fee: $260

Grades: 7th to 10th

Time: 8:30am to 3pm with breaks

In sports, there was a time when coaching, management, and decision-making came down to instinct, experience and tradition. Over the last 20 years, statistical analysis has become the new normal for sports teams. This summer, you will have the opportunity to develop skills in sports analytics, become a truly knowledgeable sports fan, improve your skills in fantasy sports, and maybe launch a career in the world of sports one day! Develop public speaking, writing, recording and editing skills.

The hit movie "Moneyball" opened the eyes to the world of sports statistics and challenged everyone on how to simply think differently. Now middle and high school students are learning how to dissect video footage to analyze their favorite sports teams. Now is your opportunity to learn more about how coaches and general managers of sports teams analyze their teams and players. During this camp, you will have the opportunity to pick your favorite sports team or player and put together a portfolio and analysis on how best they can improve.

Create sports anchor and sideline reporting videos like ESPN, Bleacher Report and more. Join us for a week of one of our most popular camp programs and take the first to launch your sports production career. Develop public speaking, writing, recording and editing skills. Campers will learn how to split video clips from recordings of your favorite sports/games. From Professional Sports' All-Star Games as well as from the Men's or Women's World Cup, Super Bowls, World Series, NBA Finals, etc. After learning how to "tag" video clips and organize those clips into a highlight reel, campers will master their TV voice to create an "ESPN-like" sports broadcast. If you love highlight films or sports news (ie: SportsCenter), then this is the perfect opportunity to go behind the scenes and learn the same tricks of the trade that broadcasters/producers use to prepare for a live film. All participants will produce a final audio/video recording so they share their talents with families and friends.

Jr. Coding / Kitty Coding

Instructors: Codemoji

Fee: $150

Grades: 1st - 2nd

Time: 9am - 12pm

Entertaining instruction ensures students have fun while learning complex coding skills using popularized emojis that represent HTML text. This approach lowers the barriers to new coders and increases their excitement and understanding of computer science. While HTML, CSS, JS is the bedrock of coding, we also want students to also explore their creativity and problem-solving skills. Using a combination of Codemoji's online platform and Scratch, another open-ended coding application, we have created engaging content that allows students to continue to explore computer science concepts long after our class time together is complete.

Logistics:

Students will need access to a desktop or laptop computer (No iPads).

Students will need an internet connection

Students will need to install Zoom and Google Chrome

Students will need headphones if possible

Students will need paper and a writing device

Sports Broadcasting and Analytics Camp: Create & Host Your Own ESPN Sports Highlight & Analytics Show

Instructors: Drobots

Fee: $260

Grades: 7th to 10th

Time: 8:30am to 3pm with breaks

In sports, there was a time when coaching, management, and decision-making came down to instinct, experience and tradition. Over the last 20 years, statistical analysis has become the new normal for sports teams. This summer, you will have the opportunity to develop skills in sports analytics, become a truly knowledgeable sports fan, improve your skills in fantasy sports, and maybe launch a career in the world of sports one day! Develop public speaking, writing, recording and editing skills.

The hit movie “Moneyball” opened the eyes to the world of sports statistics and challenged everyone on how to simply think differently. Now middle and high school students are learning how to dissect video footage to analyze their favorite sports teams. Now is your opportunity to learn more about how coaches and general managers of sports teams analyze their teams and players. During this camp, you will have the opportunity to pick your favorite sports team or player and put together a portfolio and analysis on how best they can improve.

Sports Broadcasting Camp: Create & Host Your Own Sports Highlight Show

Instructors: Droboots

Fee: $260

Grades: 4th to 7th

Time: 8:30am to 3pm with breaks

Create sports anchor and sideline reporting videos like ESPN, Bleacher Report and more. Join us for a week of one of our most popular camp programs and take the first to launch your sports production career. Develop public speaking, writing, recording and editing skills. Campers will learn how to split video clips from recordings of your favorite sports/games. From Professional Sports’ All-Star Games as well as from the Men’s or Women’s World Cup, Super Bowls, World Series, NBA Finals, etc. After learning how to “tag” video clips and organize those clips into a highlight reel, campers will master their TV voice to create an “ESPN-like” sports broadcast. If you love highlight films or sports news (ie: SportsCenter), then this is the perfect opportunity to go behind the scenes and learn the same tricks of the trade that broadcasters/producers use to prepare for a live film. All participants will produce a final audio/video recording so they share their talents with families and friends.
