Arno and Dylan advice:

1. Don't bother complimenting, just get straight to the point.
2. Using bullet points.
3. Don't send links to free value in the first email.

Assalamu Alaikum Shorif.

I took a look at your website and saw that you don't have much writing on your website.

I have 3 specific ideas I took from Built With Science's website that you should implement.

I also saw that you have no newsletter in place.

A good newsletter can help get you more clients.

It can lead them to purchase your training program, or any future products you want to promote.

Now, I took some time to make you an email you could use for a newsletter, for free.

Would you like to see it?
