

Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy applies to the “OnePath : Connect Dots” app registered on the Google Play Store and the services provided by its developer, “SobpGames.”

This document is written in English. You may use Google Docs’ translation feature or your browser’s translation function to view this policy in Korean or any other preferred language.

1. Personal Information Collected

This application (“app”) does not directly collect or transmit any personal information from users to its own servers.

However, the in-app advertising service, Unity Ads (provided by Unity Technologies), may automatically collect certain information such as advertising ID, device information, and app usage time.

The app only stores the user’s advertising consent status in encrypted form on the device and does not transmit it externally.

This information is used solely to determine the type of ads displayed (personalized/non-personalized).

2. Purpose of Collecting and Using Personal Information

The app does not directly collect, store, or process any personal information.

Unity Ads automatically collects information for the following purposes:

- Providing personalized advertisements
- Measuring advertising effectiveness
- Fraud prevention
- Security
- Regulatory compliance

3. Provision of Personal Information to Third Parties

The app does not directly provide personal information to any third parties.

However, information may be automatically transmitted to Unity Ads for ad display purposes.

You can find Unity Ads’ privacy policy at the Unity Privacy Policy.

4. Outsourcing of Personal Information Processing

The app does not outsource personal information processing to any third parties. However, personal information processing is entrusted to Unity Ads for the purpose of providing advertisements.

5. Overseas Transfer of Personal Information

Unity Ads may transfer and store collected information on servers located overseas (such as in the United States, Europe, etc.) for the purpose of providing advertisements and operating its services.

For details on the destination countries, purposes, retention, and usage periods, please refer to the Unity Privacy Policy.

6. User Rights and How to Exercise Them

As the app does not directly collect personal information, users cannot request access, correction, deletion, or suspension of processing of personal information through the app itself.

However, for information collected by Unity Ads, users can exercise their rights (access, correction, deletion, suspension of processing, etc.) via the Unity Privacy Policy and customer support.

When ads are first displayed or via the information button within the ad, users can directly manage their consent for personalized ads and privacy options.

7. Advertising and Personalized Ad Consent Management

The app checks the user's consent for personalized ads and displays either personalized or non-personalized ads accordingly.

A button is provided on the app's main screen that opens a panel where users can manage their ad consent status at any time.

If consent for personalized ads is declined, only non-personalized ads will be shown. Consent records are stored in encrypted form on the device and are not transmitted externally.

8. Retention and Use Period of Personal Information

As the app does not directly collect personal information, there is no separate retention or use period.

The retention, use, and deletion periods for information collected by Unity Ads are specified in the Unity Privacy Policy.

9. Notification and Accessibility of the Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy can be accessed at any time from the app's main screen or via the information/settings menu.

If this policy is changed, users will be notified through an in-app notice or update.
