

What is a bridge ???

Bridges in crypto are platforms that allow data or value to be exchanged between blockchains that don't belong to the same native blockchain. Currently, there are countless blockchain networks. Each of these blockchains has its own native cryptocurrency, which coexists on its network with other native assets that are also representations of tokens or cryptocurrencies from other networks.

