Introduction (Style: Heading 2)

(Style: Normal)

Explaining the background, problems, importance of research, brief literature review that relates directly to research or previous findings that need to be developed, gap analysis and ended with a paragraph of research purposes. A balance must be kept between the pure and applied aspects of the subject. The introduction is presented in the form of paragraphs of approximately 1000 words. (Style: Normal) Cite references thus \(Hidayat, Mahardiko, & Alaydrus, 2020\) at the most relevant points within a sentence, i.e. not outside the full stop. This is known as APA style - <http://www.apastyle.org>.

Research Method (Style: Heading 2)

(Style: Normal)

Make sure that work can be repeated according to the details provided. It contains technical information of the study presented clearly. Therefore, readers can conduct research based on the techniques presented. Materials and equipment specifications are necessary. Approaches or procedures of study together with data analysis methods must be presented.

Result and Discussion (Style: Heading 2)

(Style: Normal)

Well-prepared tables and or figures must be of significant feature of this section, because they convey the major observations to readers. Any information provided in tables and figures should no longer be repeated in the text, but the text should focus on the importance of the principal findings of the study. In general, journal papers will contain three-seven figures and tables. Same data can't be presented in the form of tables and figures. The results of the study are discussed to address the problem formulated, objectives and research hypotheses. It is highly suggested that discussion be focused on the why and how of the research findings can happen and to extend to which the research findings can be applied to other relevant problems.

References (Style: Heading 2)

(Style: Normal) See author guide for examples of our preferred APA style formatting <http://www.apastyle.org>. All hyperlinks in the paper are to be active and body text references should be linked to the full citation in the reference list. To do this (1) place your cursor at the beginning of the line of the reference entry, (2) choose Insert->Bookmark, (3) create the bookmark e.g. Hidayat, Mahardiko, & Alaydrus, 2020, (4) go to the body text reference then select the body text reference which would be like (Hidayat, Mahardiko, & Alaydrus, 2020) then choose Insert->Hyperlink->Place in this document->bookmarks->Hidayat, Mahardiko, & Alaydrus, 2020. Look at the example body text reference in the Introduction section and see how it links to the full reference citation below.

In Microsoft Word the default action for hyperlinks is to break to a new line. To force the hyperlink to break across lines insert a No-Width Optional Break space before a forward slash character. This will ensure that the hyperlink remains active.

To insert this character, do the following:

1. Position the cursor where you want to insert the character. For instance, you might insert a character after each slash in the URL.
2. Click the Insert tab and click Symbol in the Symbols group.
3. Click the Special Characters tab.
4. Highlight No-Width Optional Break.
5. Click Insert.

Endnotes (Style: Heading 2)

(Style: Normal) Note: footnotes are not permitted at all. Endnotes should be minimised. If an endnote cites a reference you should use the same APA style of citation as in the body of the paper; i.e. the full reference must appear in the list of References, so that it will then be automatically included in citation databases.
